LIVING together

Vintage students Margie McNeil, Greg Wessel, Sherri Crane, Tammy Hansen, Sean Lemaster, Chrissy Werris, Bryce Herten, and Denise Black are best buddies on a night out.

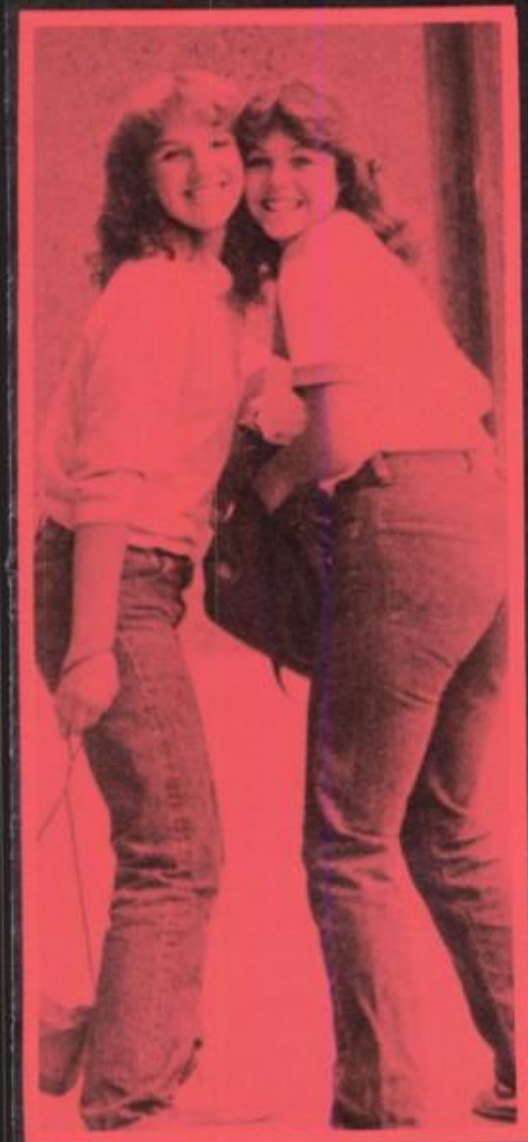

Nearly 2000 students traversed the Vintage campus every school day. These students ranged from one end of the spectrum to the other in characteristics. The Vintage students had widely varying personalities, physical appearances, achievements, activities and goals, yet all seemed to possess certain characteristics in common: a special friendliness; a willingness to be tolerant of the numerous other attitudes of the students on campus; and a strong sense of loyalty and support for Vintage.

Vintage took a big step this year by adding 9th graders to the student population. Approximately 400 students were added to an already-large student body. The result was acceptance much more than complaint; welcome rather than scorn. Vintage students continued to display the friendliness and spirit we are known for. Vintage students were, as always, LIVING TOGETHER . . . in harmony.

Crushers spent this year growing in spirit and growing together. Always reaching out and reaching forward, we never separated ourselves from others. Vintage was a campus of united Crushers. We were students with a common cause: to grow in every way possible. The faculty and campus that played a part in growth, also served to increase our feeling of pride and spirit towards Vintage. Vintage gave us a glimpse of the diversity and challenges of life, for the times when we felt outgoing and brave, while providing a stable base when we didn't feel quite so secure. In the process of growing and maturing, we sometimes grew apart from certain people and towards others. At all times, though, Vintage Crushers learned to discover the best that life has to offer, and continued GROWING IN SPIRIT.

STRIVING for success

Steve Utterback gives his all for the Vintage cross country team.

Bursting with enthusiasm and prepared to take on the world, Vintage Crushers set the pace for other schools to follow. We caught hold of our dreams and made them realities. Achievement was the password for the Crushers and nothing could stop us. We worked hard and played hard, seeking a balance that would best suit our needs. Crushers were in the forefront in every possible area: music, athletics, academics, vocational work, art, etc. We revelled in the discovery and testing of our talents, whether they were physical, intellectual, artistic, or mechanical. During the week, we pushed ourselves to the limit, usually taking a well-earned break on the weekends. The reward for all our toil and sacrifice, was a wonderful feeling of self-satisfaction, pride, and confidence in ourselves as achievers and the knowledge that we could really accomplish whatever we set our minds to. We were, and are, STRIVING FOR SUCCESS.

Even with the hustle-and-bustle of school and social life, many students still found time to hold an afterschool or weekend job.

The variety of jobs varied from McDonald's to Mervyn's and from Domaine Chandon to Chuck E. Cheese's.

One may have heard many complaints about hard work, mean managers, and rude customers, but the good times and friends made outweighed the bad by far.

Many people believed that nothing was learned by serving hamburgers or washing dishes, but the knowledge and the experience gained helped students EARN THEIR WAY through life.

Some of the different and many ways students spent their well-earned money varied from taking their sweethearts out or paying a couple of dollars to get into a party. Also, many students believed in saving their money for a car or even trying to earn tuition for a college education. Moreover, students used their money for the ever-growing expense of gas and, also, for their lunch, whether they stayed at school or went out to many of the fast-food places.

In the end, most students couldn't wait until payday, when all the anger and frustration was forgotten, because that was the time when the employees received their well-deserved money and were ready to spend it Crusher-style.

HANGING OUT

Life in the fast lane

Weekend nights were the time to break away from studying, tension, and parents for a few hours of entertainment. Rarely did a Crusher sit at home with nothing to do. Friends got together to plan the night's activities. Cruising the "J", partying, going to the movies, playing video games, and just having fun were among the most favorite nighttime activities.

In the Fall semester, football games and dances were popular on Friday nights. Basketball games took over after football. When the game was over, everyone either went out for a bite to eat, or found something else to do.

Vintage students kept their Friday and Saturday nights busy, and as usual, were always on the go.

romantic night on the bay

On Saturday, October 23, Vintage High School held it's 4th annual Bay Cruise Dance, sponsored by the music department. Approximately 150 couples attended the 4 hour cruise. The Blue and Gold fleet cruiser departed from the Berkeley Marina at 8:00, filled with students eager to begin the magical evening.

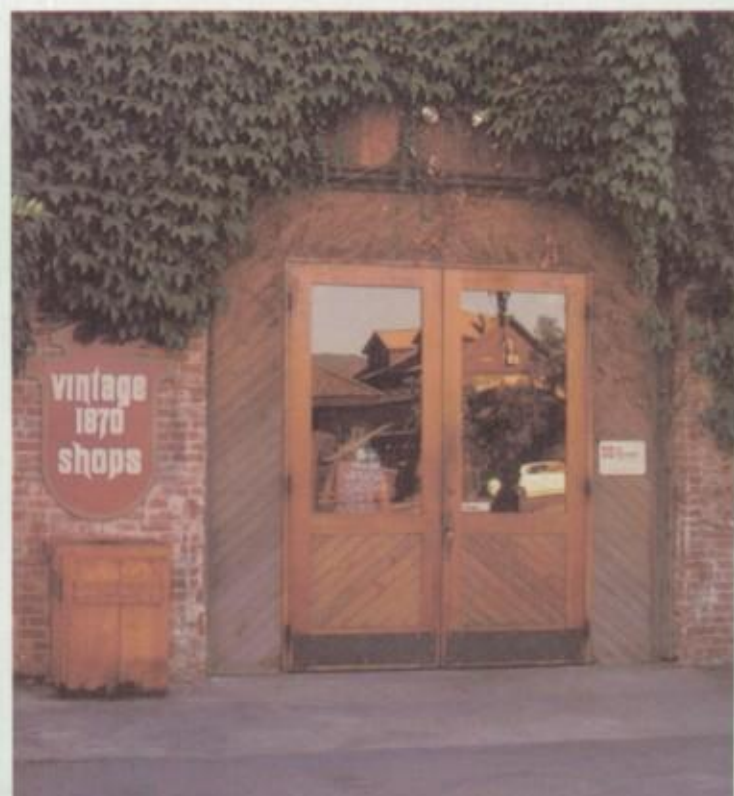

As couples danced to their favorite songs on the lower deck, others were getting their pictures taken and conversing with friends on the middle deck. On the upper deck, couples romanced under the moonlight, while looking out over the water to the lights of the city. In every corner of the boat you could find lovebirds doing their thing. Passing under the world-famous Golden Gate Bridge, the evening's highlight, everyone clamored to the upper deck to catch a glimpse. Much to everyone's disappointment, the boat returned to the dock at midnight, and the exciting evening came to a close.

LIVING NAPA-STYLE

Vintage makes Napa the place to be

Surrounded by rolling green hills and towering trees lies richest wine land in California, the Napa Valley. Over the years it has attracted such wineries as Christian Brothers and Beringer. Last year alone the Valley had more tourists than Disneyland, but not all of them came for the wine. Many probably came for the other attractions such as Hot Air Balloon rides, gliding, mud baths, Silverado Country Club, and shopping at Vintage 1870.

Through the years many movie companies have shot on location in the Napa Valley. Since last year the Valley has its own television show called "Falcon Crest" all about a power struggle over a winery.

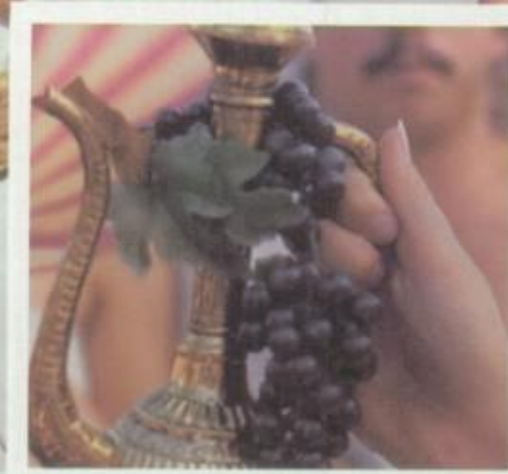

Yet even with all the publicity, Napa is still a small town that welcomes everyone with a smile. Here at Vintage we reflect much of Napa's spirit and friendliness-making Napa the place to be in 83'.

BEACHING TOGA-THE R

Juniors make waves while seniors 'rome' on Exhausted from the wild "all night" toga party, the seniors "romed" to Vintage. In spite of their sleepiness, they painted signs, trying to give the others the feeling of being in "ancient times at Vintage High." As students wandered through the quad, they could read the seniors' ten commandments and spot Romans dressed in white sheets, blankets, and leopard-skin togas. At noon, everyone crowded around the student store to watch the chariot races, grape-eating contest, and to discover which gladiator had the "sexiest" legs. To highlight the afternoon, all the citizens climbed aboard their deluxe, 1982 model chariot, complete with towering pillars and climbing ivy, and they roamed along with the Harvest parade. As they strolled leisurely down Jefferson street, they enjoyed a snack of grapes and wine, which was grape juice (of course). The class of '83 will never forget their Harvest week because, "together" the seniors are "roman' on!"

The next day the juniors' rolled in with the tide as they "made waves" at Vintage High. Walking through the quad, students saw beach balls bouncing, skateboards rolling, frisbees flying, and beach bums slumming. During the noon rally, the juniors gave us "good vibrations" with a beach relay race. They featured Chuck Whittington dancing in an itsy-bitsy, teenie-weenie, yellow, polka-dot bikini. After that, they jumped into their ski boat and floated down Jefferson street as Kim Kesler water-skiied behind. The juniors definitely left behind an unforgettable 'wave' of spirit.

The new Sophomore and Freshmen additions to the school had their first chance to participate in the Vintage Harvest Week festivities.

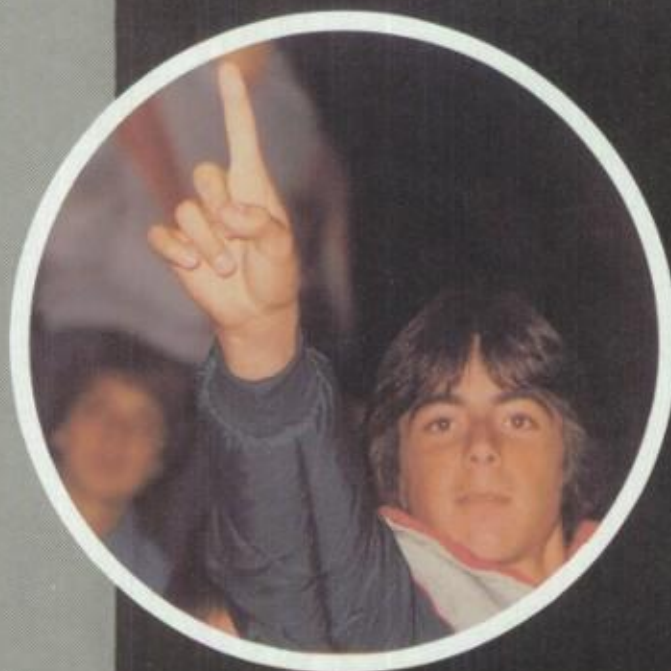

The 1982 Sophomore Harvest week theme was Wild Wild West. Students showed their spirit by dressing in cowboy hats, boots, and jeans. Adding to the fun was a rootbeer chug-a-lug and a bubble-gum blowing contest.

The Freshmen were hanging loose,

Hawaiian-style. They showed their spirit by dressing in grass skirts, shorts and sun glasses. The rally was held on Crusher Creek, with a banana-eating contest.

Shana Drenon said "I think that the rallies are fun to watch. It's better than sitting around talking to friends."

HIGHLIGHTING HARVEST WEEK

crowning the royal couple

Excitement was in the air as the afternoon progressed. Homecoming candidates lined up in their cars, hoping to look their best. People crowded on the street as the Harvest Parade passed through. Candidates waving while smiling so long, they felt their smiles were pasted on with glue. Finally they pulled into Memorial Stadium, their long awaited destination. Then off to dinner at Rainbow Bridge added to the night's anticipation. At 8:00 sharp, they hurried back to cheer on their Vintage team. While stomachs turned and butterflies flew, each girl hoping to become queen. The halftime ceremonies began at last. The queen candidates were escorted up front- it all went too fast. John Crane, our master of ceremonies, paced the stage for hours, or so it seemed, finally kissing Tammy Lunceford, the 1982-1983 Homecoming Queen. Now it was time for a little evening romance, as everyone headed for the annual homecoming dance. People dancing and singing, oh what a sight. While everyone anxiously awaited the stroke of midnight. Suddenly the music stopped as the King candidates appeared. While Kim Dalton paced the stage, it was the moment they all feared. She finally kissed Saul Flores, crowning him 1982-83 Homecoming King. This important event was the conclusion of that exciting and extravagant October 8th evening.

FIRING UP

rally sparks Crusher spirit

Traditionally, the students at Vintage High come together under the leadership of choir director, Kathy Buller, to perform what has become known as, "The Big Game Rally." Of course, this is no ordinary rally; it is a special production devised to arouse Crusher Spirit for the Big Game between intra-city rivals-Vintage and Napa High.

The 11th annual Big Game Rally was off to a great start long before the day of the actual performance. Auditions, rehearsals and dress rehearsals kept both cast and crew busy for well over a week.

On November 12, the day of the Big Game, nearly 150 people were prepared to draw back the curtain and give their all for good ole' VHS! The rally was run seven spectacular times that day, never exceeding the 40-minute time limit.

The program consisted of 15 acts, including "Mickey", performed by the Varsity Pom Pon and our own Vintage Barbershop Quartet, who sang, "We Are Loyal Vintage Crushers!" along with many other memorable acts. The highlight of the day was the 5th period performance, when Channel 7 T.V. filmed parts of the production for the evening news!

Although keeping the spirit alive and fresh was sometimes a difficult task, through the efforts of several energetic cast members, we were able to remain enthusiastic!

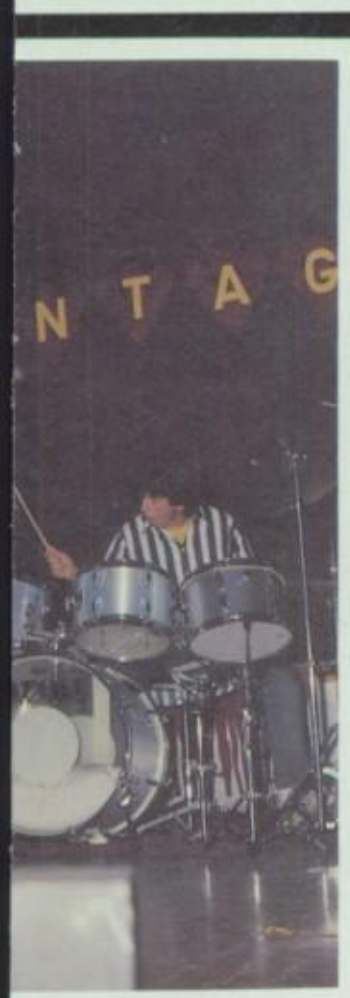

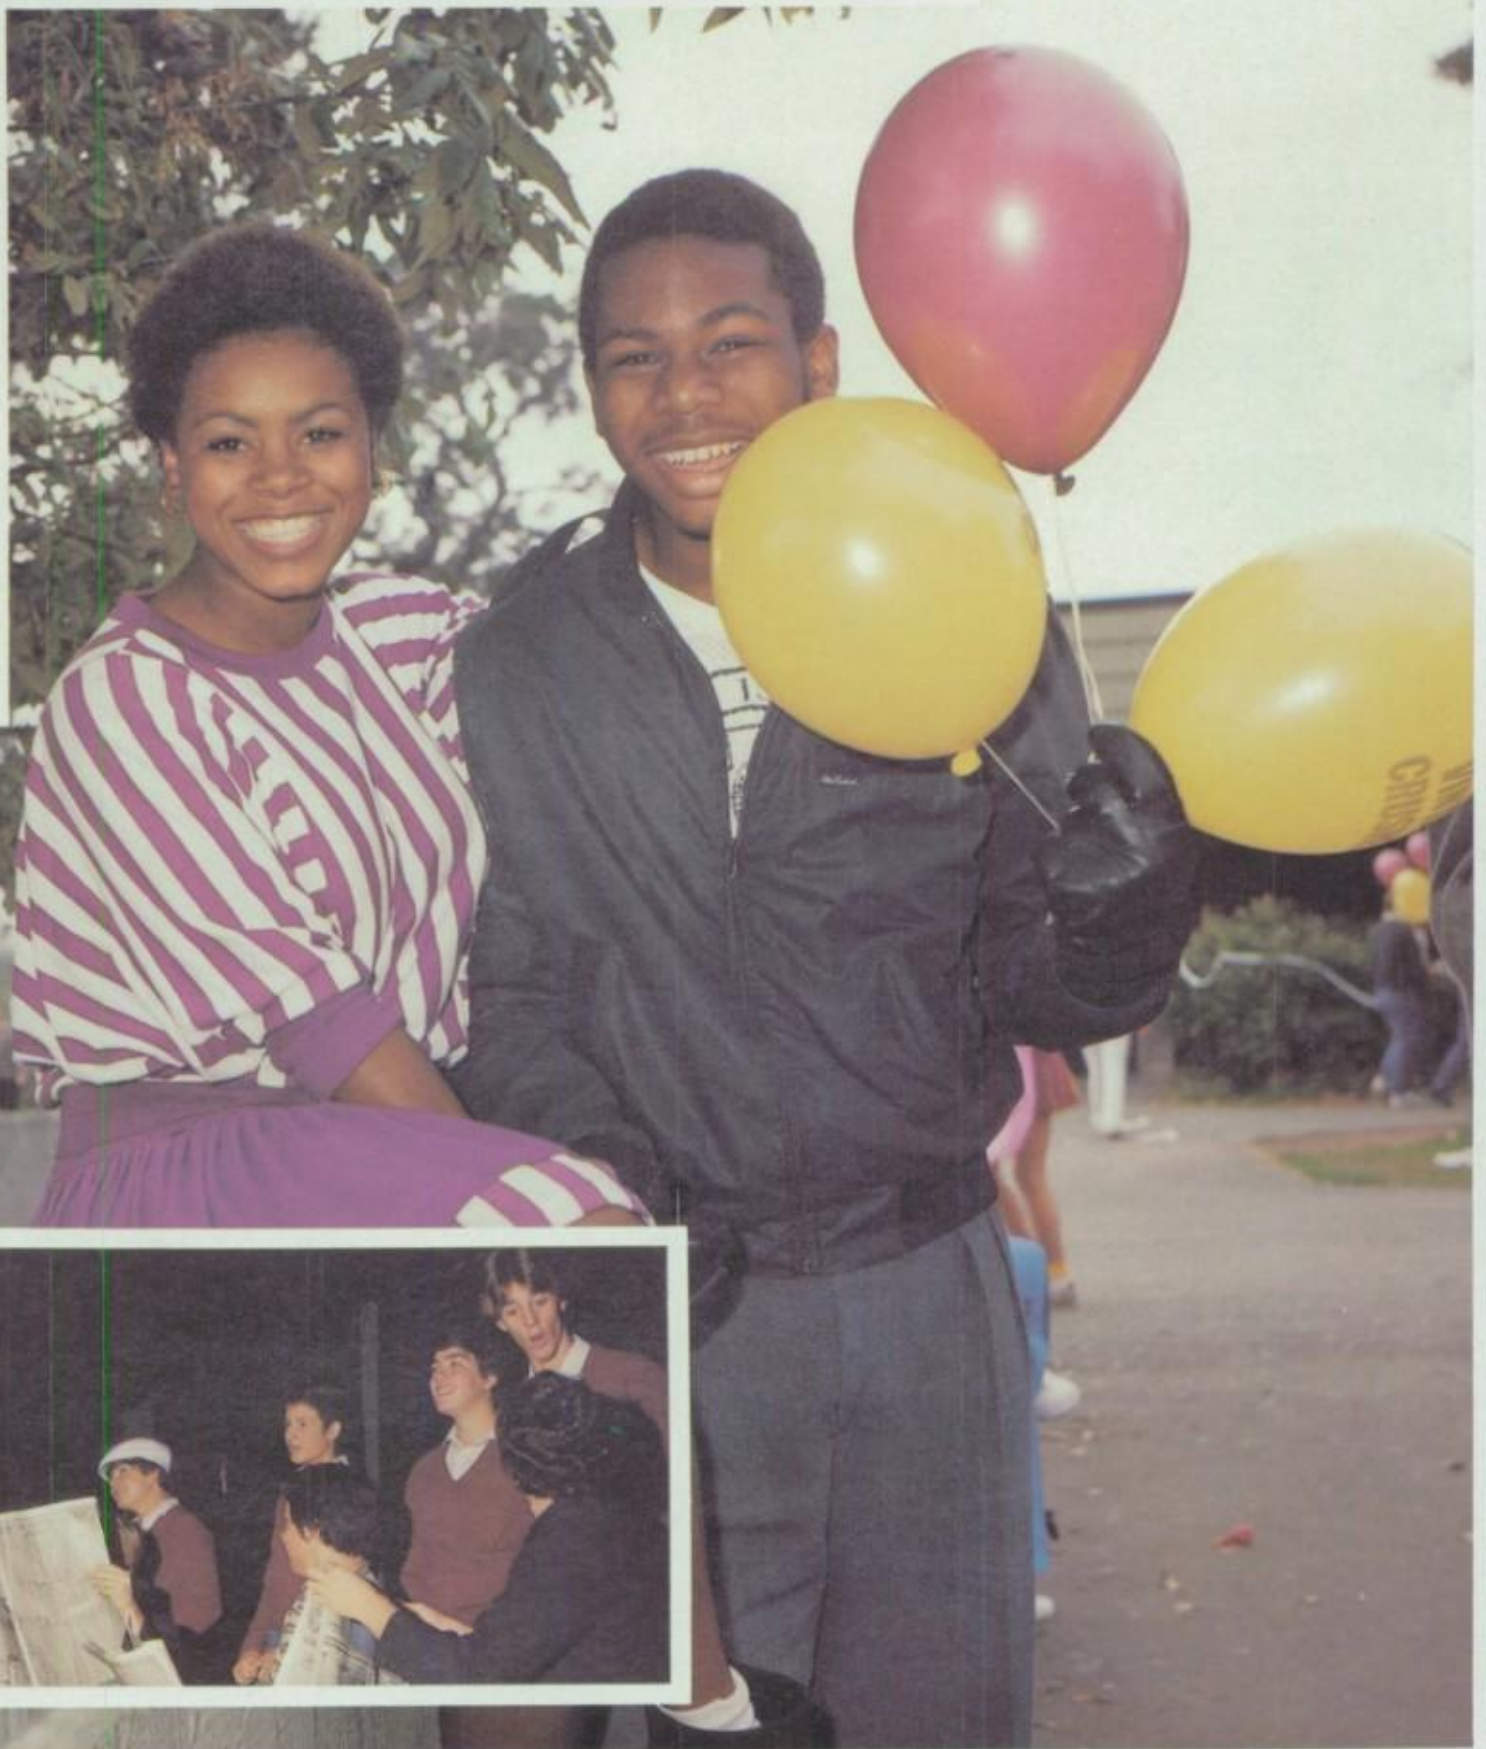

In every performance, the finale seemed to capture Vintage's spirit and pride! The entire cast participated in the finale singing the Vintage Big Game Fight Song. We will never forget those final words, "Rip! Grind! Crush! the Indians into the field!!!!"

LEFT: Cast from M-Net-work: "Vintage is the cure for the Napa High Blues!" BELOW: Kurtina Abbott and Curtis Bolton capture Crusher Spirit! INSET: Gary Silva, Chris Drew, Jac Barbeen, and Scott Ross are loyal Vintage Crushers and, "real live nephews of our Auntie Ruell!"

CRUSHING NAPA

powderpuff pulls through for Vintage

18 ... 19 ... 20 ... Oh, the push-ups! Those long practices dragged on for more than four weeks. Through the wind and rain, the members of the '82-'83 powderpuff team endured it all, showing the true Crusher spirit every moment. The night of the game finally came. Walking up the field, proudly displaying Vintage colors, the powderpuff team showed their spirit and unity. The game began with a touchdown for the Crusherettes on the first play. The Indiannettes attempted a comeback, but Vintage held their own. At the end of the fourth quarter the scoreboard read "Napa 20-Vintage 24". The faithful cheerleaders asked the question, "How do we feel?!!". The victorious players responded with, "We feel good! Oh, we feel so good!!!". The powderpuff team had pulled through and proved to all that Vintage was number one! At last, our cross-town rivals were put into their place ... right below the Vintage Crushers!!

SPIRITING CRUSHER

Vintage Crushers boost spirit sky high

At Vintage everyone caught that Crusher Spirit. Vintage and what the Crushers made of it was something to be proud of! Crushers showed their spirit in many different ways. In sports, Vintage athletes did their best while Crushers fans cheered them on. Rallies put on by the cheerleaders before the sports events got everybody excited and pepped up for the games. During Spirit Week everyone got involved and dressed up to each classes' theme. On special theme days throughout the year, we wore or brought items that were symbolic of Crusher Spirit. For example, on Top Napa Day we wore hats and on Stuff Napa Day we brought stuffed animals. We express our Crusher Spirit because we want everyone to know that we are proud of Vintage High and that it is the number one school around.

LEADERS OF THE FUTURE

One of the many classes offered at Vintage was a specialized class aimed at developing the leadership abilities of students involved in the school's student government system. In order to make intelligent, responsible decisions, these students were encouraged to ask their peers questions about the issues that confronted the student body. The class considered the suggestions of the students along with the overall academic goals of the student body when considering various proposals. Each of the students gained valuable leadership training and experience by cooperating with their peers. By fulfilling many of the needs of the student body, the student leaders also gained the satisfaction of seeing the results of their dedicated efforts. The student leaders spearheaded the drive to increase the amount of funds in the Associated Student Body account, in order that more money could be distributed to and made available for numerous special projects that occurred. The instructor for this inspirational class was Mr. Al Vidaurreta, Vintage's Vice-Principal.

AFS, which stands for the American Field Service, adds excitement and knowledge to the lives of many adventurous students every year. In this program, willing families housed students from abroad for a year, while local students got the same treatment from other AFS families in different countries all over the world.

This year, the students visiting Vintage were Katarina Ros, from Sweden, and Claudia Ayres, from Brazil. Katarina lived with the Huddleston family, and Claudia stayed with the Stahleckers.

To become eligible for such an arrangement, students had to be interviewed and have good grades, as well as a little bit of luck.

Both Claudia and Katarina spoke of the trepidation they felt at the thought of starting school in a new country, but remarked about how quickly the students took them in and made them feel at home.

Project Interdependence was created during the "International Year of the Disabled Persons", and its aim was, and continues to be, to bring high school students together from throughout the state (half with disabilities and half without) to work together in their schools and local communities. This club was designed to change the attitudes of intolerance, eliminate the barriers to individual achievement, and advance a model for citizen leadership.

The students were trained in a wilderness camp. The activities or projects focused on high energy, inner beauty, and highly significant areas in the peer groups and in the school curriculum. The participating members included, Mike Jung, Jeff Winchell, Roberta Bouchet, Cass Pujol, Jennifer Capovilla, Rusty Sweeden, Lisa Clark, Chris Brown, Dan Viado, Shirley Stephens, and Katy Kelton (advisor).

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

To act or not to act, that was the question. Many Vintage students responded by taking a Drama class, or trying out for the school play. Drama was taught by Mr. Payne in a class room off of the Little Theater. The first semester was devoted to loosening up the students so that they wouldn't be so self-conscious. After that, they moved on to Pantomime. Students then started memorizing lines, performing scenes, and learning about stage make-up, lighting, and stage directions.

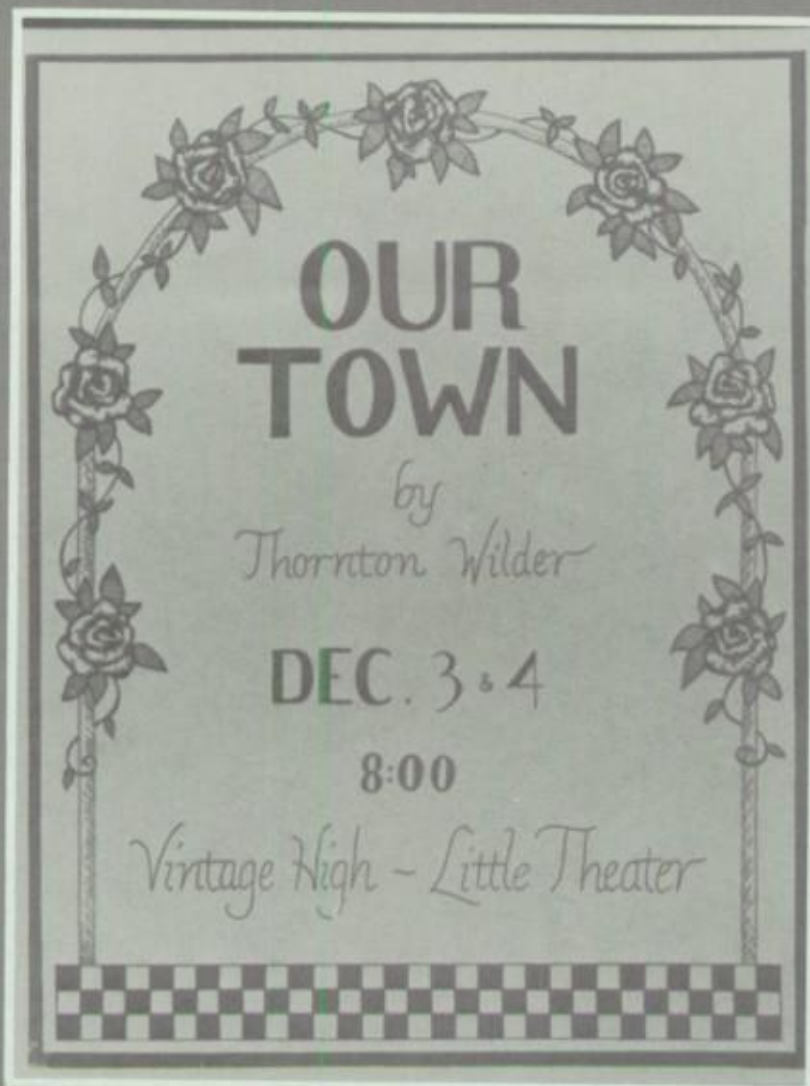

On December 3rd and 4th, the Drama Department presented Thornton Wilder's classic play "Our Town". The cast did an excellent job of entertaining large, appreciative audiences both nights. The cast consisted of dedicated, hard working actors and actresses, some of which included Bonnie Adams as Emily, Mr. and Mrs. Webb, played by Sam Formo and Tammy Broxton, Mark Simmerman as George, Mr. and Mrs. Gibb who were played by Roger Hodges and Anne Reiholds, and Don Nelson as the Stage Manager. In all, Vintage High School had a fantastic theatrical year.

Interact is a club at Vintage dedicated to school service. This past year, the students in Interact helped to promote school spirit with such activities as Student-Faculty volleyball, the Big Game Rally, and the Christmas Dance. The money made in fund raisers was used for student scholarships and school activities. Interact members took the responsibility of helping to keep the campus clean and looking good. They gave up some of their lunch hours to clean up the property that neither the school nor the city would claim. They have also provided some landscaping around the campus. The President of Interact was Jeanne Guanzon.

Keywanettes is a girl's service club on campus that is affiliated with the Kiwanis Club of Napa. Over the year, the Keywanettes assisted various organizations including the March of Dimes, American Cancer Society, American Heart Association, Family Service of the North Bay, YWCA, and Solano/Napa Agency on Aging through volunteer work and/or fund raisers. The main Keywanette goal was to provide service to the school and community. The District theme was "Togetherness: the key to the future." The Keywanette President was Jeanne Guanzon.

The Key Club, like the Keywanettes, is also affiliated with the Kiwanis Club of Napa. During the year the members were busy doing various activities. They, among others, helped with the annual Powder Puff Game and ran the concession stand at every home basketball game. They spent some of the money earned on a new video recorder for the school. The district that the Vintage Key Club was in covers all of California, Nevada, and Hawaii. The president of Key Club was Dominador Manayan.

PERSONAL AND POLITICAL ACHIEVEMENT

The Model United Nations was very successful here in 1983. The program, designed to aid students in understanding world events, speech-making, and politics, was open to all secondary students in the district. Countries, which members represented at an Assembly in April, were awarded in November on the basis of past experience and present ability. MUN, besides being an enjoyable learning experience was Vintage's only active debating society, discussing such issues as the Arab-Israeli wars and the Northern Ireland affair. The Vintage MUN chapter had about fifty members. Officers included Advisor Olav Lejneiks, Secretary General Mike Mautner, and Vintage Pres. Brad Medrud.

Saccharomyces, as Mr. Lilleberg put it, was a "... field trip club dedicated to the further education of those students who wish to enhance their creative abilities in a non-structured environment." This year, members participated in numerous trips to Mr. Lilleberg's Trinity Mountain cabin, where they were able to escape the pressures and hardships of daily life. Self-improvement was the goal of all, and this was realized through the field-trips and tasks the club took on. Among these tasks has been the laying out of brick paths around the Vintage campus over the last several years. Membership this year was limited to twelve for reasons of space.

Not only did we have the addition of ninth graders at Vintage this year, but we also had an addition to our concert and treble choirs. These two groups nearly doubled their size this year and directing a group of this size was quite a job for the accomplished director, Miss Kathy Buller, who has been at Vintage for two years now.

The concert choir spent many hours of practice preparing for their winter and spring concerts and other performances. This year they had the privilege of participating in an invitational festival which was attended by the six most outstanding choirs in California. During the first week of May, the choir toured as far as Victoria, Canada. The students raised money for their trip through fund-raisers ranging from selling candy bars and calendars to cheese and jewelry.

Treble choir, a preparatory class for the girls interested in concert choir, also was dedicated and practiced very diligently. This group consisted of twenty-eight girls ranging from ninth to twelfth grade.

Choir was certainly a rewarding experience for those who participated in it. The members shared new experiences and good times together that added to the excitement of all the year's activities.

MELODY MAKERS NOTED FOR GREAT EFFORT

One of the most talented organizations here at Vintage was Vocal Music Workshop which consisted of seven couples and four instrumentalists.

Tryouts were held at the end of the previous school year by Miss Buller who located some of the most skilled performers at Vintage. She also chose four instrumentalists: Pat Slayter on lead guitar; Darryl Borges on drums; Mark Evans on bass guitar; and Michelle Watts on piano. These four instrumentalists and fourteen singing members toured this year to Victoria, Canada, along with Concert Choir.

Another dedicated group was Chamber Singers, a group that practiced during lunch hour. This group consisted of eight girls and seven boys who also toured with the rest of choir.

These musical performers did a great job of entertaining at many important functions and their dedication was appreciated by all.

CRUSHER BAND MARCHES ON

This year's Marching Band was twice the size that it has ever been. With the addition of the freshman class, many fine, talented performers were added to the organization.

Under the direction of Mr. John Sadler and the leadership of Drum Major Rachel Broyles, our Crusher band gave many fine performances, both on and off the football field. The band traveled on tour to L.A. and Disneyland, competed against other high schools, performed at the CMEA Festival, attended CAL Band Day, and cheered on our Crusher teams with their very own yells.

Although most performances were at the year's beginning, our band not only marched, but kept on practicing throughout the year.

The Flag Girls added color and splendor to the band. Along with the Marching Band, they joined in practices and attended all competitions and tours. Being a flag girl took determination and skill. By practicing after school and in their spare time, our flag girls showed their special talents and came to be an easily recognizable part of the marching band.

BLUEGRASS RHYTHM AND JIVE

Not many students would sacrifice their lunch hour three days a week to many hours of hard work and practice. But this is what many highly-dedicated select musicians did most of the school year. These students studied the rhythmic intricacies and chordal structures of Jazz Music.

Under the direction of John Sadler, the Jazz Band played at many festivals, one of which was the Reno Jazz festival, as well as many other public performances.

The Dixieland Band, was a small group combo put together by Rick Lovie (bass) with the help of members Doug Vorbeck (trumpet), Leslie Honsvick (clarinet), John McCormick (tenor sax), Gwen Anderson (piano), Tony Becerra (trombone), and Scott Jennings (drums).

The Dixieland Band played many local performances, including Vintage 1870 and Chuck E. Cheese Pizza Time Theater.

A CHRISTIAN OUTLOOK ON LIFE

Two groups existed on campus this past year to promote development through Christian principles: Fellowship of Christian Athletes and the Girls Fellowship Club.

Advised by Larry Curtis, the members of FCA met twice a month to discuss the Bible and its relation to their lives, both athletically and personally. This group has been in existence at Vintage High for four years.

The Girls Fellowship, sponsored by Mrs. Bates, was advised by Kathy Susan and met weekly. The girls shared with each other their problems, ideas, and interests. Trips to the Silverado Convalescent Home were made monthly by the Girls Fellowship Club and they have been in existence for three years.

The Activities Office wasn't just a room consisting of a desk, typewriter, and phone, but the heart of all extra-curricular activities around the VHS campus. The old saying around campus was "there are always activities going on in the Activities Office." All the planning of activities from Homecoming to the Prom originated in this office. There wasn't anything a student needed for school functions that they couldn't get from the Activities Office: Super Punches, football tickets, dance tickets, senior caps and gowns, student body cards, school photos, lockers, class rings, and a lot more. The director of this incredible office was Mr. Gittings, who along with Mrs. Stornetta, his right arm, not only directed the activities, but planned and executed them. The master calendar of activities hung on the wall behind Mr. Gittings' desk, helping keep everyone up-to-date on all the many VHS activities. With so many "goings on" around campus there was always a "packed house" in the irreplaceable Activities Office.

LITTLE LANGUAGE LEAGUES

Mrs. Boyet was the advisor of the French club. At club meetings the members enjoyed cooking French foods, listening to French music and speaking to each other in the Romance language. The students could also use the computers to play French games or just to learn more of the language.

The club sold candy to raise money for field trips. They also put on a luncheon of foods from France earlier in the year.

In the German club, the students went on a caroling trip to nursing homes in Napa. They had a German luncheon with many varieties of German foods. Under the supervision of Olav Lejnieks, the German club went to a place in San Francisco called Goethe where they found everything they wanted to know about Germany.

The club also planted flowers around the campus so Vintage would have something by which to remember the German club of 1982-1983.

The Napa County Office of Education supports the career centers at Vintage, Calistoga, and St. Helena High Schools. The Career Center encompasses an educational process which encourages individuals of all ages to apply learning in order to prepare for and achieve a satisfying career and life style.

Through this program Mr. Rosado has been helping students since 1974 decide their careers with numerous files on college curriculum, job opportunities and information. Mr. Rosado pointed out that the eight steps to a successful career are: learning the basic skills, self awareness, positive attitude, educational awareness, career awareness and exploration, career planning and decision-making, career preparation, and finally, consumer and economic awareness.

The Career Center had speakers from The Book College of Fashion Design and Merchandising, The National Scholarship Research Foundation, The Napa City Fire Department, and many others from colleges and other organizations. The Career Center offered this wide selection of speakers in order to give the students career ideas.

UNLIMITED RESOURCES

The library was the place! So many things were happening in this quiet institution; minds were working, people were experiencing art, history, the ways of the world, and (of course) students were quickly finishing up the previous night's homework. Supervised by Mr. Doroshenko and Mrs. Birdsong, the library was kept adequately quiet for students needing to concentrate.

Although many students did not become acquainted with the media center and its many purposes, this small room adjoining the library played an extremely important role in the workings of the school. The media center was always busy with students working every period of the day providing invaluable services to the faculty. One of the foremost services the center provided was xeroxing. Teachers could drop off papers along with number request forms and, unless there was a huge buildup in the media room, they could expect to have their copies back at the desired time. Students learned to make overhead transfers and slides, dry mounting, laminating, poster design and lettering, video taping, audio tape duplicating, and many other needed skills. At the end of each year each student received a certificate verifying that the student had experience in media production.

The Varsity pom pon girls and yell leaders began practicing and getting ready for this year's events after being selected at the end of the previous school year. During the summer, they went to a U.S.A. cheerleading camp where they learned new moves, routines, and yells. Throughout the school year they spent long hours practicing afterschool, weekends, and holidays. The three girls in charge were Leslie Eide- head overall, Tammy Broxton- head pom pon, and Susie Marlow- head yell leader.

Dressed in burgundy and gold outfits they helped arouse high spirits among the teams and sports fans. At rallies they had themes such as the Beach, and Vintage is Cool (Winter). They coordinated their dress and contests to match the themes. Their enthusiasm always seemed to get everyone excited. We'll remember the smiles and spirit they gave us for many years to come.

J.V. RAH-RAH'S GOT THE BEAT

The VHS pep squad was guided by the unselfish desire to lead our teams to victory and help with the various activities of the student body. This group of individuals made a visible difference on campus. Besides their involvement with the athletic teams and spirit rallies, the pep squad worked long hours creating new routines. Behind the cheerful faces of pep squad members was a mass of creativity constantly thinking of new ideas to ignite the student body and the athletic teams. The Junior Varsity consisted of 8 pom-pons and 10 yell leaders who were either 9th or 10th graders. The positive attitude and school spirit that Vintage High is noted for was largely the result of the dozens of hours of work that our pep squad volunteered each month by painting signs and having a lot of spirit at games and school activities. The pep squad's advisor was Mrs. Munoz, who did an excellent job organizing the squad.

The Student Store is a distributive education class offered to students at Vintage High for training in retailing and marketing. Students learned basic skills such as cash register operation and change making. The Student Store made many items available to students as well as teachers. Items ranged from P.E. clothes to jewelry to stuffed animals along with natural foods. One of the store's most popular items sold were the fresh bagels. They were the biggest money maker and a favorite among many students. Profits from the year's bagel sales went to D.E.C.A. (Distributive Education Clubs of America)

This organization allowed the students to compete in the skills they learned in the Student Store. They competed against students from different schools all over California. Students doing well in state competition went on to national competition which this year was held in New Orleans. D.E.C.A. offered scholarships to students wanting to continue in the area of retailing and also helped students find jobs.

ACHIEVERS IN ACTION

The California Scholarship Federation, commonly known on campus as CSF, is the honor society of Vintage High. It's only members were those students who were able to maintain at least three A's and one B in core classes.

Recognizing students with outstanding academic achievements and familiarizing them with various colleges were only two of the goals reached by CSF this year. Their main goal however, was to provide members with college scholarships.

Trips to such campuses as Berkeley, UC Davis and Stanford were paid for through caramel apple and lollipop sales. The advisor for CSF was Stan Domezio and David Harrington served as President.

The FFA, Future Farmers of America, is a nationwide organization open to all students who are enrolled in agricultural classes. This organization however, was not restricted to students in grades 9-12, it was also open to students in their first two years of Junior College.

One of the major functions of the FFA was showing animals at the Napa Town and Country Fair. They showed beef cattle, sheep, and swine in the areas of market stock and breeding stock. Not only did the FFA provide competition between agricultural students on the local level, but it provided competition on the state and national levels as well.

This year the FFA was headed by Tammy Crawford.

The movie club began to be very active this year, after Emmanuel Vitrac and a few other students started it in the last part of the 1981-82 school year. Four groups of eager, would-be movie directors and producers created movies like: Killer Pizza, a comic film; Fun Times at VHS, a comic satire about Vintage; and a documentary about VHS that was shown to the freshmen. A few other projects were produced using different kinds of special effects. With the help of Dr. Wolter, the club's advisor, this was a very active and exciting year for the movie club.

The journalism class consisted of both Journalism I and Journalism II students. Although most of the work in this class dealt with writing, there were many other activities in which students could participate. Students could do editorial cartooning, photography, work on getting advertisements, and laying out the paper.

Besides the regular classroom activities, the journalism students had the choice to participate in activities outside of class, including the production of two papers; the school paper, The Harvester, and a weekly section of the Napa Register called the "Tri-High Gazette." Because the "Tri-High Gazette" went out to the community, this was the class's top priority. Articles were due every Friday and were taken down to the Register Friday afternoon. Every Tuesday the Editor of the "Tri-High Gazette" and any other interested students went down to the Register and put together the Gazette.

The students really enjoyed the things they learned putting together a 'real' newspaper as well as the interaction with the students from the other schools.

Students also had to make deadlines for the Harvester. When the articles were edited and typed the students layed out the pages they were in charge of. It was stressed in class that the school newspaper belonged to the students. They could include whatever they would like in the paper as long as it didn't purposely offend someone and was responsible journalism.

Journalism was a rewarding important class. Students got their writings published so a great many people read them. They also became much more familiar and aware of what was going on around the Vintage campus and the community.

"If I had known it would be so much work..."

That phrase could be heard during the weekend yearbook shifts as well as during the all night deadline parties. It was hard work and there was a lot of it, but the one thing that really made it all worth while was the friendships we shared.

With any major project such as organizing a yearbook there are bound to be tensions and problems. We had our share of both! Misspelled, mistyped, and misquoted copy took a lot of time to correct. Unidentified, spotty, or grey prints all combined to cause tension in the dedicated photography staff as well.

The many yearbook tasks included sorting mug shots, stamping pictures, writing and typing copy and captions, designing layouts, drawing layouts, putting headlines and tool-lines on artboards, taking and printing hundreds and hundreds of photos, pasting up and cutting color photos, and on and on.

It took a responsible, organized editor. Yearbook editor is not an enviable job, but Lynn Bundy took the position and proved that even the most disorganized group can produce an excellent yearbook.

With Lynn's help, the staff members, and photographers all came together and managed to meet (most) deadlines. Producing a yearbook was a pressure-filled job, but the yearbook staff seemed to work their best under pressure. It took a lot of sacrifice, patience, and cooperation, but this year's yearbook class came through with a memory book that brings back all the special school memories of 1983!

"Defense! Defense!"

As the new decade begins at Vintage High, we Crushers begin a new decade of Big Games. The Big Game is, of course, against our cross-town rivals the Napa High Indians. In the past 10 years we have had a favorable series of games, that included 6 wins, 3 losses, and 1 tie game that eventually led to another Victory Bell for Vintage High in overtime.

This season, 1982-83, was ended with both Vintage and Napa tied at 9-0. Neither Vintage or Napa had lost any league or non-league games, making the Big Game the deciding bout for the M.E.L. Championship and a chance for either team to advance to the sections. Vintage, having #1 defense in northern California, had an equal chance at victory against Napa's excellent offense.

The game started ... with a kickoff return for Vintage and a great show for Vintage's defense. Vintage had four unbelievable goal-line holds and the score remained 0-0 at half time. After an entertaining show by Vintage's band and pep-squad, our Crushers returned fired up for the concluding half. All was well until the last 1:23 of the fourth quarter. A Napa player ran 64 yds. to score a touchdown for Napa. Time ran out on the Crushers before we were able to score. However, both Vintage and Napa players felt that the other team played an excellent game. Crusher fans left the stadium that night very disappointed, but still full of pride at the spectacular skill of the Crusher football team.

a thrilling victory

When asked what one word describe this year's Varsity Soccer season, Coach Nelson responded with, "Great! I'm very proud of the accomplishments we made this year."

Yet, there is always the "agony of defeat" . . . The loss to Fairfield in the middle of the season ended the team's hope for placement in the section playoffs. This disappointing game temporarily lowered the team's spirit.

But no one knows better than the Crushers how to enjoy the "thrill of victory" . . .

The team came to realize, now more than ever, what team work and determination was all about. Our Varsity team may not have had the best ability in the league, but they had the spirit and the will to win again! Both the players and the coach felt that the highlight of the season was the victory over Napa High. The fact that the Crushers had already lost one game to Napa at the beginning of the season only made a victory more important. Coach Nelson admitted that the team needed no "pep-talk" for that game. They felt the pressure, they came together as a team, and they evened the score with Napa High.

"This year, Napa, next year, the world . . ." -Chris Elson

When the dust settled at the end of the game the score stood at Vintage 1 - Napa 0!

searching for new goals

With the addition of the freshman class, J.V. soccer is becoming a more recognized sport. The addition of the ninth grade has greatly enlarged the junior varsity sports.

"We had a good time and it showed!" - Phil Beere

In the beginning of the season, the J.V. team was undoubtedly the most formidable in the league. However, Coach Nelson noticed some outstanding players and promptly drafted them to his Varsity team - to the misfortune of the J.V. team. However the J.V. team was capable enough to pull through the season with it's own outstanding players, such as Kurt Kesler, who showed excellence as a defensive fullback, Todd Harmon, who did equally well as a center forward, and Phil Beere, who moved well in the position of goalie.

All the J.V. Soccer team members should be remembered and recognized as a team that never gave up. As Phil Beere said, "We had a good time, and it showed."

running for fun

The cross country team of Vintage's 1982-1983 school year certainly enjoyed a happy, excitement-filled season. Led by coach, Bill Williams, a veteran cross country instructor, dedicated individuals worked together, attaining that complete feeling of unity that all teams strive for, but few ever achieve. Newcomers and "oldees" alike were bonded with their fellow runners in one happy, caring family.

With such great attitudes within the team, Vintage competed fiercely. The girls placed second in the league championship, fourth in the sub sections, and six out of the twelve girls on the team, (Colleen Kane, Wenona Wenneker, Karen Cowan, Dena Moffitt, Julie Nord, and Nancy Nord) qualified for the big section meet. The girl's team was defeated only once in the entire season.

"They're the nicest bunch of Kids I've ever coached."-Bill Williams

The boys, with no varsity runners from the previous season, did well also. They tied for third in the league, and two (Collin Ross and Mike Augustus) qualified for the big section meet. Pointwise, the two most valuable runners on the team were senior Colleen Kane, and sophomore Collin Ross.

The cross country team felt it benefitted and grew both mentally and physically in the positive enviroment that the hard workouts, the encouraging coach, and the fun, caring people projected. Although the workouts were difficult and sometimes monotonous, all felt that it was a very rewarding experience.

fortitude and endurance pay off

Improvement! That is what the 1982 - 83 Varsity Volleyball team strived for and achieved. Coach Norma Hill quoted, "For having so many inexperienced players, they have improved more than any team I've ever had."

The varsity team had only three returning players, one of which was Kim Kesler, a returning all-MEL player and this year's team captain. The other two, Laurie McWhorter and Nancy Allen, played a major part in the team's offense and defense. The rest of the team advanced from junior varsity and they had a few new-comers, who completed the 82 - 83 team.

"A fun and hardworking group of girls that gave us more close matches than any other volleyball team." — Coach Norma Hill

The team's first nine games were losses and Coach Hill expressed her feelings by saying she thought the team had a lot of work to do and that they would never make it to sections. As a result of the four losses, the practices became longer and harder, but the team never quit and, finally, they started to see results. The team went 3 - 3 in the MEL tournament and also received the consolation prize in the St. Helena tournament. Not only was Ms. Hill pleased, but the wins gave the team incentive to keep FIGHTing and to come out champs in the end. Consequently, the team made it to the sections for the fifth year in a row.

a season full of spirit

Many feel that the main purpose of a junior varsity team is to give the younger players experience and to prepare them for the varsity team. This year's J.V. Volleyball team proved that theory wrong. They played well together and enjoyed a very promising season. It is true that the players lacked some experience, but the turnout of the season proved that knowledge is power. Coach Swearingen quotes "that if this team had as much experience as they had knowledge,

"What we lacked in experience, we made up for in spirit." -Coach Sandy Swearingen.

they would have been the number one team in our league."

The team's season started off with seven losses, but they proved themselves worthy with their first win of the year. Coach Swearingen provided the team with support, knowledge and spirit. This not only made her team work harder, it also prepared the players for next year, whether they will be on junior varsity or advanced to the varsity team. Among this year's players were Captain Bridgett Johnson and Co-captain Rebecca Pemelton, both setters for the team. These two, plus the other players helped make this team a superior group of girls.

Looking back at this past year's J.V. Volleyball season we can remember a truly good team of spirited players who worked hard and well together. Anticipating for next year we can hope for an even more exciting season with our players having had some Crusher experience behind them.

Crusher Football rallies community spirit for football fever

1982 was an excellent year for the Crusher Varsity Football Team. With a 9-1 record, Vintage averaged 23.1 points per game while their opponents averaged only 4.4 points per game. The coaches and manager spent many hours training with the players to make Vintage High Football what it is today.

The team captains were John Albrecht, Jeff Clark, Doug Gomez, and Jon Turner. Doug Gomez was named Most Inspirational, John Albrecht-Lineman of the Year, Richard Ramirez-Back of the Year, and David Lu and Jeff Clark were named Most Valuable Players. Of the 49 players on the team,

*"It was an outstanding season."
Coach Autry*

10 were titled All County, 8, All League, 5, All Region, and 1, David Lu, All Superior California. Mike Spinelli and Jon Turner were awarded Helms Scholar Athlete, and 13 of the players were named Player of the Week.

As Coach Autry put it, "It was an outstanding season. It's just too bad it couldn't have ended a minute and twenty-four seconds earlier."

J.V. and Freshmen strive

The Vintage Crusher Junior Varsity Football team demonstrated great potential and talent along with balance and precise execution this season. Achieving goals was the power behind the J.V.'s season. The team finished the season with a 5-5 record.

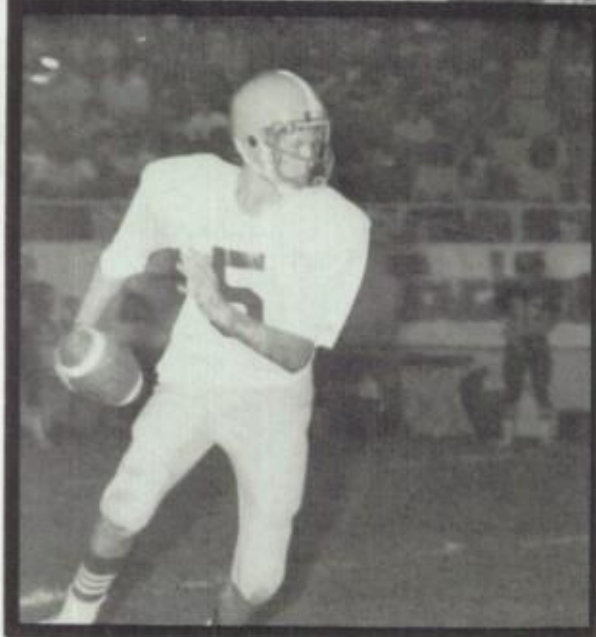

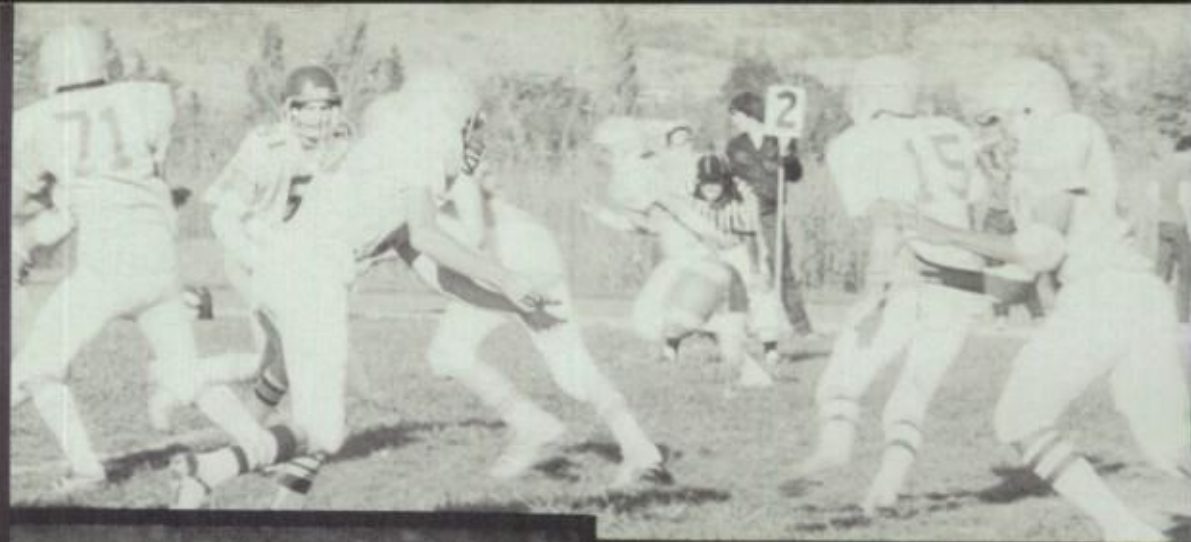

Larry Curtis commented on the team,

"They had something special: character; they stayed steady, and they encouraged each other." Defense was the highlight of the team. Steve Haynes, Rod Weildraayer, Mark Falk, & Scott Carrier, were the teams leading players. Offense, although not as consistent as defense, showed alot of Crusher pride. Scott Smetzer was the star of the offense. The team showed enthusiasm and pride on the field as well as off. Their spirit rubbed off on the rest of the student body, making them a very exciting team to watch. Although the Freshman team's record

"They had something special ..." — Larry Curtis was not outstanding, their playing ability improved and progressed noticeably throughout the year. The team in action sparked the audiences also, making their games almost as exciting as the Varsity games. They finished the season with a satisfactory record of 4-4.

weightlifting's popularity grows

Weightlifting at Vintage High became a popular sport with many of the students. Instead of just P.E., some students chose to spend their P.E. time developing and toning their muscles. They did such lifts as the bench press, military press, leg press, two and one-arm curl, two-arm standing press, two-arm high pull up, reverse curl, squat, heel rise, bent-arm pull over, straight-leg dead lift, wrist curl, and many others. These exercises build up the triceps, deltoids, trapezius, serratus anterior, biceps, radial, brachioradialis, quadriceps femoris, pectoralis, latissimus dorsi, teres majors, (just to name a few) levator scapulae, rhomboids, and many other muscles that most students have never heard of. With the help of some of the faculty, students competed with themselves and each other to see who was the strongest one around. A new weight room was built near the tennis courts with new weights and carpeted floors! Good luck guys (and girls) and keep pumping iron!

Coach Carol Hisey's tennis team was comprised of a group of fantastic high-spirited netters. Not wanting to give up many of the skilled and enthusiastic new freshman and sophomores, Ms. Hisey kept more girls on the team than ever before.

This year's number one singles player was Captain Melinda Parker who made her way to sections. Jeanne Guanzon and Randi Wallen represented our

Vintage wrestlers prove their prowess

"Up and down around the mat, c'mon Crushers pin 'em flat!" This was just one of the yells used to help inspire the Crushers to victory.

Coached by Mr. Lanterman and Mr. Tedesco, the Vintage High wrestling team had a fairly good season. The team captains this year were Matt Marshall, Jim Oakley and Drake Tenorio who also managed to keep the team's spirits up when feeling a little low.

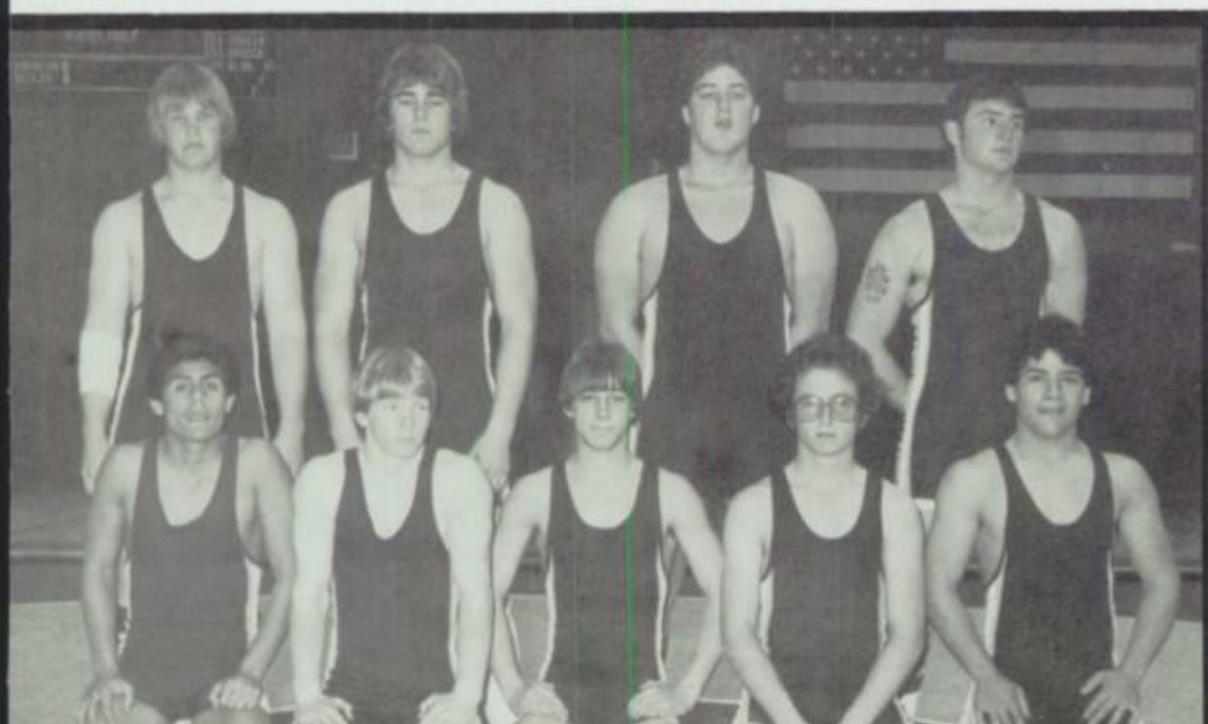

"Wrestling isn't about winning or losing, it's the personal satisfaction you get from the hard work you do."
Matt Marshall

Vintage hosted the annual MEL tournament here on campus where the team placed 3rd overall in the meet. The following week, Vintage co-hosted the sub-section tournament with Napa High in the Napa High gym.

For many of the members of the team, the season as a whole was quite a success as a few members went on to represent the school in the sub-sections. The hard work and sportsmanship of the team made everyone proud to call them Crushers!

Crushers on the ball

Hard work and determination were words that could be used to describe the Boy's Varsity Basketball Team. The boys concentrated on teamwork and sportsmanship, always playing hard and giving each game their best shot. Although there was a definite lack of height, the team played well together and had a lot of fun. Of the starting team, Kraig McAhren was the leading shooter and Mike Wessel was the leading rebounder. Roman Seguerre was the playmaking guard, and Tom Orrock, John

"This has been one of my most enjoyable years of coaching because the kids have worked so hard."
Coach Pahre

Albrecht, and Craig Priess added muscle to the starting team. During the season there were fewer turnovers per game than any other past season. Even though there weren't as many wins as the team would have liked, their spirit and attitude towards the sport more than made up for it. As Kraig McAhren said, "Nobody likes to lose, but as a team we played well together."

The Varsity basketball season was a learning experience for many, teaching sportsmanship, teamwork, and esprit de corps.

Crusherettes shoot for the stars!

The Vintage High Girl's Varsity Basketball Team had a great season! They had been in contention for the M.E.L. title for the past few seasons and they continued this tradition again this year. The team's offense was led by the Napa Valley's scoring leader, Lynn Bentley, averaging 24 points a game. Kim Kesler led in the rebounding department with an average of 11 rebounds a game. According to Coach Marge Hartman, the key to this year's success was their ability to work together as a team. "They showed more improvement than any other team I have coached as far as teamwork, attitude,

"This year's team had the ability to work together. This ability, combined with the school support we received resulted in our being M.E.L. champions."

Kim Kesler

and desire," she said. After a slow but smooth start, the team held on strong during their league games. Although there were no real outstanding individual defense players, the whole team contributed in making this year a great success. This was the first time in Vintage's history that the Girl's Varsity Basketball Team won a league championship. Like they say, the team is only as good as its bench, and this year's bench helped to spark enthusiasm in the players. Whether winning or losing, this team was a success in more ways than one!

improvement and high-scoring offense

This season's J.V. Basketball team was very successful. With sophomores and outstanding freshman guys came talent and determination. Improvement was the "pass" word for the team this year. Although the season's beginning may not have been very promising from the players' standpoint, they were all pleased that they were able to pull together as a forceful team in the season's final games.

The excellent offense provided for high-scoring games. Some of the high-scorers & excellent offenders were Scott Smetzer, Craig Ferrario, Kurt Kesler, and Jeff Bridewell. Having these outstanding additions to our J.V. team made all the players outshine their opponents; however all of the players were recognized as determined individuals.

As the freshman boy's basketball season ended, a few 9th grade players were added to the junior varsity. Along with the honor of being moved up, came the feeling of pride of representing the Crushers in J.V. basketball.

Coach Domezio, basketball coach for nine years, said, "It was an interesting group of kids, and I enjoyed coaching this season!"

girls put their best foot forward

The 1982-83 J.V. Girls Basketball Team had 14 members on the roster. Starting members of the team were Yvette Ringsmith, Akiko Furukawa, Shari Cabral, Cricket Sample, Jennifer Lee, and Donnelle Ray. The additional supporting players were, Kim Babb, Darla Kean, Tracy Reeves, Jennifer Riley, Melissa Sweeney, Renee Phillips, Hope Hattendorf, Tracey Cutler, and manager Liz Smith.

Monday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoons from 2:15-4:30 team members spent many hours of training and practicing skills. They were coached by Frank Bossini and assistant coach Jerry Roach.

The team had a record of 6-19 for the season, going 3-6 in league play.

The season was marred by a major injury to Donnelle Ray early in the game against Fairfield. She fractured her leg and tore her ligaments by running for a loose ball. This injury kept her out for the remainder of the season, but the rest of the team pulled together as best they could and had a lot of fun.

teamwork is first and foremost

This year the ninth-grade basketball team was coached by Mike Narlow. The team was made up of 16 players. Since this is the first time Vintage had a ninth grade basketball team, the players were inexperienced. However, Mike said that the players were a good group, they listened well, and were easy to coach. It was only lack of experience that kept them from being the best! Mike also stated that they had an interesting season. Everyone started from scratch, and though the team had tough competitors, they all tried their best. Their eagerness kept up the team spirit, but was only able to help them win two games out of fifteen. Mike commented that he hoped the players next year would have the same high spirit this years players had.

MAKING TRACKS

Vintage tracksters running to glory

The Vintage track team raced into the 1983 season with much enthusiasm and spirit. Coach Williams and Coach Adams prepared their runners to compete harder. These techniques enabled Jon Turner and Dennis Ortanes to lead the Crusher men throughout the season. Our burgundy and gold runners never gave up. No team ever totally beat the men of the Vintage track. One reason that this team was successful was because all the runners worked together encouraging and helping one another. The Crushers had confidence as expressed by Mark Folk, "I feel that we have a lot of good runners and throwers on our team, so I know we're headed for a good season." Excellence was Vintage's motto this year, and this year's runners proved to be no exception.

"Running makes me high on life." - Wiley Kennarr

the mighty flighty fleet of fleet feet

The fleet-footed females of Vintage started the season with fervor. Spearheaded by speedster Lori Stultz, who defeated California's state sprinting champion at the Cow Palace, and King Pin Kesler, the girls were hot to trot.

The relatively young team had returning seniors Maria Loban, Wenona Wenneker, and Joan Epperson in the hurdles and middle distances, Colleen Kane in the long distances, Delandria Benton and Lori Stultz

"I love Track and Field because it gives me a chance to grow physically and socially." - Wenona Wenneker in the sprints, Sherry Codran in the high jump, and Kim Kesler in the shot put and discus events.

The three coaches Mr. Williams, Mr. Adams, and Ms. Bronson divided into three different sectors each dealing with a specific need in the team. Bill Williams coached the hurdling, the pole vaulting, and the throwing events, George Adams coached the sprinters, high jumpers and long jumpers, and Sidney Bronson coached the middle to long distance runners which included all the athletes running an 880 or more. "The team was responsive and talented, a really great group of kids," noted coach Bill Williams.

The winning spirit that was alive in the team certainly exemplified once again the old adage that says "Toughness is not necessarily talent . . . it's between your ears."

"Swimmers, take your mark."

There's hardly anything we like better than a nice, cool dip in the pool on a hot summer day. SPLASH!! Well, the swimming and diving teams spent a lot of time splashing this year, but not just for a leisurely swim, and with the season beginning in early March, the sun always seemed to be hiding behind a few clouds.

With over thirty members, the 1983 VHS swim team was the largest it had been in four years. Everyday the team met at the Napa High pool to begin practice. Under

"It was a lot of hard work, but the attitude of the team and the fun times made it all worthwhile!" Brett Self the supervision of Coach Liza Spahr, the team worked long, hard hours perfecting their strokes and increasing their speed.

The team captains for this year were Kenny Collins and Elaine Manansala, who were appointed by Coach Spahr at the beginning of the season.

Even though all of the splashing wasn't just for fun, the members of the team had a lot of good times and won many of their events with great enthusiasm!

Crushers get caught up in fitness craze

Many of the students here at Vintage were involved in sports activities outside of school for reasons of fitness and fun. They acquired fitness by using the par-course or on their own through biking, running, playing tennis, aerobics, or even weight-lifting. Others were also involved in city-league sports such as basketball, and there was also an indoor soccer team which practiced every morning in the Crusher gym at six a.m.

Nearly everyday students could be seen

"I'm drinking milk for good!" - Anne Kallaby running the track or the par-course which was a fitness program that surrounded the football and baseball fields. The new weight room here at Vintage provided students with a new source for their own health needs. Some found fitness in other ways by running on their own, biking around town, playing racquetball at one of the health clubs in Napa, or by joining an aerobics class at one of the health clubs or the J.C. The eighties have brought in a new health awareness in our society, and Vintage students were among the many people who joined in the health craze. In school and out, Crushers kept fit and healthy.

Vintage golfers have better strokes

It is said that golf is the favorite game of presidents, comedians, and movie stars. It is played throughout the world, from the shores of Pebble Beach to the plains of Australia to the campus of Vintage High. Some of the many masters of the game are Tom Watson, Jack Nicklaus, and the Vintage Crushers. This year the Vintage team was coached by Mr. Dan Pinnarretta, who said, "this year's team has as much potential as any other team I've coached". When asked what the team's goal was for this year, he

"I feel we have the potential to go undefeated and go to State." - Scott McCarron replied, "to go undefeated again and to win the 6th section in a row". Senior Bill Block said, "I don't know quite what to expect with this year's team, but we got high hopes". The team putted, drove, stroked, and chipped their way to another winning season along the gorgeously lush fairways of the Silverado Country Club proving their superiority in golf once again.

a fresh start for a new team

This year's Varsity Softball Team headed off in a slow start. Most of the team's members were first year Varsity but they all pulled together as a team for a great season. Positions were up for grabs at the beginning of the season as the 15 players who were chosen did their best to fill them. Last year's back-up pitcher, Shelley DeLaca, was back again this year as the team's #1 pitcher. The team also had the leagues #1 catcher, Melinda Parker, who returned for her second year. "The team had alot of

"Softball has been a great sport for me here at Vintage. All the team, including Miss Hill, have made these past three years of pitching something I'll never forget." - Shelley DeLaca building up to do since most of last year's team was lost to graduating seniors," said Coach Norma Hill. "We worked hard though and came up with a great team who did their best to get to the playoffs." Although softball is physically and mentally demanding, it is also rewarding to the girl's in the the same respect. "I've been playing softball for three years and I think that this year as a senior it has been the most enjoyable and productive season," stated Lois Westberg. The team's spirit and experience made this season a very memorable one!

great expectations for the season

Softball is a popular game played by more than 30 million persons throughout the world. Vintage Crushers are no exception.

The Vintage softball players practiced hard at batting, throwing, and fielding. This year's pitchers were Michelle Cannon, Amy Wright, and Betsy Mitchell.

the Vintage hardballers slug their way to victory

After an outstanding 1982 season, the defending MEL champion Crushers prepared for the 1983 campaign, under the direction of coaches Tye and Hess, with great enthusiasm. Coach Tye was "looking forward to the season because it will be a very enjoyable and talented group of kids" taking the field. That comment described the hardballers to a "T." The team was led by Lestee Ceasar, Ernie Ilsley, and Richard Ramirez, who, with unbeatable determination and zeal, showed the ballplayers how not to fold even under the greatest pressures. The Crushers fought for every victory, overcoming both the physical and mental stress of this ballgame.

Crushers strive for a winning season

The members of the Vintage High J.V. Baseball team spent many long hours constantly drilling all the necessary skills to reinforce the teams strength and improve talent in areas of weakness. Their warm-ups included running, stretching, and loosening drills to help prepare themselves for each game. While outfielders were catching fly balls and grounders, the infielders perfected their double-play combination. The Vintage team proved to be very strong and ambitious. Mr. King who coached this year's

"We had a great bunch of guys, and we had a great season with good hitters." - Pat Connelly team commented, "this year's team looks like we'll have a prospective season." Sophomore, Brad Odeman, thinks, "this year's pitching was our strong point." The fierce competitiveness of the players made it a spectacular sport that Vintage was proud to represent.

badminton team gives a smashing performance

An unusual game, Badminton was discovered in India in the early 1800's, by British officials, then it spread to England where it became very popular. The game is played on a small court which should be wood, grass or dirt. The game is similar to tennis in that a player tries to outwit his opponent and make him miss the "birdie". The Vintage Badminton team started out this year with 28 enthusiastic players from all grades. Coached by Ms. Hisey the badminton team consisted of eight single players, and seven pairs of doubles. With many experienced returning players and a few promising new ones, Vintage's team promised to do well.

A smashing season!

The members of the Boy's Tennis team spent many long hours with coach Jerry Nelson practicing for top performances this year. Returning player Dominador Manayan took top positions in singles along with Dave Cash. Some of the other top positions were claimed by; Rich Garcia, Todd Harmon, Jeff Kennedy, Jeff Willoughby, Chris Elson, and Steve Grambow, among others.

The promising team with many new players displayed skill throughout the M.E.L. matches. During the season the players practiced all the right moves- volleys, serves, lobs, forehands, backhands, and most important, their strategies. Their smashing success was due to their extended efforts in the techniques, consistency, and accuracy needed to subdue their opponents. This year,

That's how Social Studies Department Chairman, Clyde Wise, jokingly told your yearbook reporter he could go through the History wing after 7th period. Mr. Wise keeps his building locked most of the time, keeping all the great wisdom within.

Studying the wisdom of history is a three year requirement at Vintage, beginning with Western Civilization in the 9th grade. Taught by Mssrs. Wells, Swan, King and Michalski, the classes study Egyptian, and Hebrew societies as well as Classical Greek and Roman civilization. In the second semester, students get a look at the Middle Ages, slowly leading up to modern times.

Junior and Seniors here get a year of American Studies (the basics) and one semester of American Government, an in depth study of our political and constitutional systems. Each history teacher has his own way of dealing with his work. For example, Mr. Tindell's American Studies classes play College Bowl, where students have to memorize dates and facts, while Mr. Wise has his students in a Mastery Program, studying analysis techniques and the like. Self expression, the key to all forms of art, whether it be the performing arts (orchestra, choir, and drama) or the exhibition arts (drawing, painting, and photography). The teachers in the Fine Arts Department at Vintage High have been extremely instrumental in helping the students to better express themselves through their artistic abilities. With a variety of classes suited to the individual, the art department truly offered something for everyone this year.

In art, like any other subject, one must learn the basics before one can excel, but unlike any other subject art can not be learned from a book. The uniqueness of ceramics, photography, or drama is the actual experience received by participating in class. Students take their dreams, visions, and ideas and actually bring them to life.

The classes offered this past year were: Ceramics taught by Mrs. Bell; Choir, Treble Choir, Concert Choir, Chamber Singers, and Vocal Music Workshop taught by Ms. Buller; Art and Painting, Drawing Studio taught by Mr. Gadberry; Crafts and Jewelry taught by Mr. Hannaford; Drama and Acting taught by Mr. Payne; Orchestra, Concert Band, Jazz Band and Performing Band taught by Mr. Sadler; and Photography and Yearbook taught by Mr. Tawzer.

Artshows, concerts, and plays kept the entire Fine Arts Department busy all year. With the assistance and guidance of the art teachers, this department has become one of the most enlightening and enjoyable departments on campus.

"It takes less time to do it right the first time than it does to do it over again".

The Industrial Arts Department is composed of several classes, all of which have unique skills to offer students. The main areas in this department are Wood Shop, Auto Shop, Metal and Welding Shop, Aviation, Ornamental Horticulture, and Drafting.

In Wood Shop, students learned how to make chairs, coffee tables, etc. . . . and often, they sold their creations, making a profit from the work they enjoyed.

In Metal Shop, students received excellent instruction on welding and metal-art projects. Some of the favorite projects that students made were things such as bookends, napkin holders, and a variety of other objects. These shops provided people with skills that they could use in future years. Many people didn't have a career in mind; they just wanted to have fun and learn a new hobby.

Vintage even had its own Aviation class. Aviation wasn't all fun and games for the students, but Mr. Gallagher said, "It's a fun class to teach and even better when there's some new material to teach the kids."

In Auto Shop students could learn everything they always wanted to know about cars. For instance, students learned why things are put in certain places, what causes problems in a car, and how to fix them. Basically, they learned the skills of a mechanic and how to deal with their own car problems.

Ornamental Horticulture was one of the favorites among many students. Mr. Ketelsen knew almost everything the students wanted to learn about plants and their care. There were green houses and small gardens to work in, along with some classroom activity.

Industrial Art classes gave students the chance to develop and learn profitable skills they could enjoy at the same time.

Over the years, Vintage High's Science Department has developed from a "dry lab" class to one which boasts of its own environmental education park where students can actually witness ecological interactions. There is also a nature museum that is open to the public every weekend, and a laser research program provided to teach students about lasers safely and within the boundaries of a harmless area. Several new computers arrived at Vintage this year, offering assistance to teachers as well as students. Each of the six classrooms are equipped with laboratory stations, enabling the students to go much further in their scientific research.

The courses taught ranged in difficulty from Intro Science—a course for freshmen introducing science and computers—to Chemistry for Science Majors—an advanced science course. There were also a variety of other courses including Chemistry, Physics, Space Science, Environmental Studies, Ecology and Issues, Biology, Social Biology, Health Education, and introductory classes.

To understand the importance of science, who would be a better person to ask than a science teacher? We asked a few, "What do you think is the importance of science?" Mr. Silcox, "With the complex way the world is going, we need to know how the "scientific part" functions. If the leaders of today don't have this knowledge, a lot of decisions will be made that could mess up tomorrow."

Mr. Wenneker, "Science is a tool to be used by man, it is here for man to use, and without it we can not truly understand man's relationship with nature."

Mr. Lilleberg, "Science develops man's awareness of nature." Mr. Migdal, "Our entire existence and survival depends upon humanity's understanding and respect for the scientific process of the earth. We must learn to get our needs from the earth without destroying that same earth; 'for what befalls the earth, befalls the sons of the earth.' "

Mr. Moore, Mr. Scrivner, and Mr. Lasseques were also teachers in the Science Department.

The Special Education department at Vintage High provides the handicapped with the special, individual teaching they need. Dan Pinarretta, Sandy Harotunian, & Karen Kelton, along with Mr. Lucas, Mr. McGreene, Mr. Netherton, and aides, Betty Koerner, Dan Kinder, John Corgiat, and Royce Howell all helped the many different handicapped students in their basic education. Most of the students took classes for one or two periods and then for the rest of the day were hard at work in the Special Ed. Department. The classes in this department were: Math, Science, Social Studies, Driver's Ed., Work Studies, Reading and Language Skills.

There were many aspects of this department that benefitted both students and teacher's aides. The teacher's aides (students from Vintage) worked with Special Ed. students on a one-to-one basis and gave the students all the help and encouragement they needed. On the other hand, the T.A.'s learned how to deal with handicapped persons, providing them with the skills and experience needed for a career in the learning disability field.

Each of the students were evaluated according to their abilities, and then an "IEP" or individual education plan was made to show what each students' learning capabilities were.

The students in the Special Ed. Program were very fortunate because they benefitted from the small classes that gave them all the help they needed and from the dedicated teachers they also gained the knowledge needed to function in today's society.

"A foreign language makes a person richer and closer to another culture." — Mrs. Georgina Swearingen.

Taking a foreign language course at Vintage was a worthwhile investment in time and effort considering the excellent instruction and resources that were available. Not only did the Foreign Language Department offer skilled, knowledgeable teachers who were always eager to teach a language to their students and open up a new world to them, but it also housed a number of computers with different language programs that could be utilized by anyone.

Four languages were available to the student body, including Spanish, French, Russian, and German. Spanish, being second most widely-spoken language in the U.S., was the biggest choice among students. They began to realize that, in this world, where a foreigner can be only a phone call or a short plane ride away, knowledge of a second language has become increasingly important. As the displayed signs in the building explained, bilingual education can greatly improve employment possibilities in many areas.

The teachers in the Foreign Language Department were Georgina Swearingen, Jerry Nelson, R.J. Davies, Richard Henderson, Olav Lejnieks, and Mary Ellen Boyet. These highly qualified instructors gave freely of their class and free time for the sake of interested students or those who needed extra assistance.

The Business department offered courses that helped students to obtain marketable skills to become typists, bookkeepers, stenographers, secretaries and salespersons. Besides the traditional courses offered such as typing and shorthand, the Business department also offered three different Secretarial practice courses in the Medical, Legal, and General business fields. Experience placed students into a job, depending on what Secretarial practice class they were in. While in a particular office, the students learned a multitude of skills and got excellent experience that they could not get by reading a book. There were a variety of classes offered in the business department including: work experience, recordkeeping, typing, shorthand, business math, student store, accounting,

M.O.N.E.Y., ROP Dupl., secretarial assistant, and department rep. The departments faculty included: Mr. William Lipschultz, Mrs. Mary Massey, Mrs. Mary Neasbitt, Mr. Harris Nussbaum, Mr. Keith Pahre Mrs. Sharleen Suellau, Ms. Sandra Swearingen, and Mrs. Louise Wagner. The Business department proved to be very successful.

"We've never really left the basics." - Mrs. Thwing.

There didn't seem to be anything different about the English Department this year, but if one looked closely, one could detect new classes, new teachers, and a new chairman - Mrs. Corrine Thwing. When pressed Mrs. Thwing revealed many positive changes for the 1982-83 year. "There's the Writing workshop run full time this year by Mrs. Johnson, and she's doing seminars on the English part of the SAT, as well as helping students with the fundamentals of writing. English fundamentals have been an important part of the Vintage program for some time, and that will continue," said Mrs. Thwing.

Vintage had a Reading Lab, run by Mrs. Kellogg for students with reading difficulties, and an English as a Second Language program that aided recent immigrants with mastering the language. Such courses as Composition I, and Advanced Composition started students on the road to better writing, and, thus far, no Vintage student has been held back due to a low score on an English Proficiency Test. In addition, scores were up for the 1982 graduating class in all areas of the C.A.P. test. Mrs. Thwing expects this upward trend to continue.

Vintage is also well known for its excellent College Prep. English program, which includes such classes as Themes in American Lit., Shakespeares, Poems and Poets, Speech, Novel and Bible as Lit. The peak of this program in English Seminar. This class, taught in the spring by Mrs. Lyons, prepared students to take the College Board's Advanced Placement Test, which gained them a year of college English credit if they did well enough on it. And so, from 9th through 12th grade, with fundamental and enrichment programs, the Vintage English Department strived to give all students a chance to excel in the Language Arts. The teachers in the English department included Barbara Bates, Earle Bird, Sharon Garcia, Barry Gill, Nick Jackson, Susan Park-Erwin, Mignon Stephenson, Helen Van Boer, Dorothy Hansen, Rozelle White, Daniel Wolter, and Jerry Wolter.

"If you're not in physical condition your mind isn't in condition." - Carol Hisey

Many students might wonder why P.E. is a required course. The reason is to enable one to live an enriched and abundant life. Norma Hill had this to say about physical education: "There are four general directions in which growth and development take place: physical, motor, mental, and social development. Each of these phases contribute to a well-rounded individual, and physical education plays a very important part in contributing to these phases.

For example, physical education provides for:

- 1) personality and character development,
- 2) physical fitness,
- 3) leadership training,
- 4) constructive use of leisure time,
- 5) habits of health and safety."

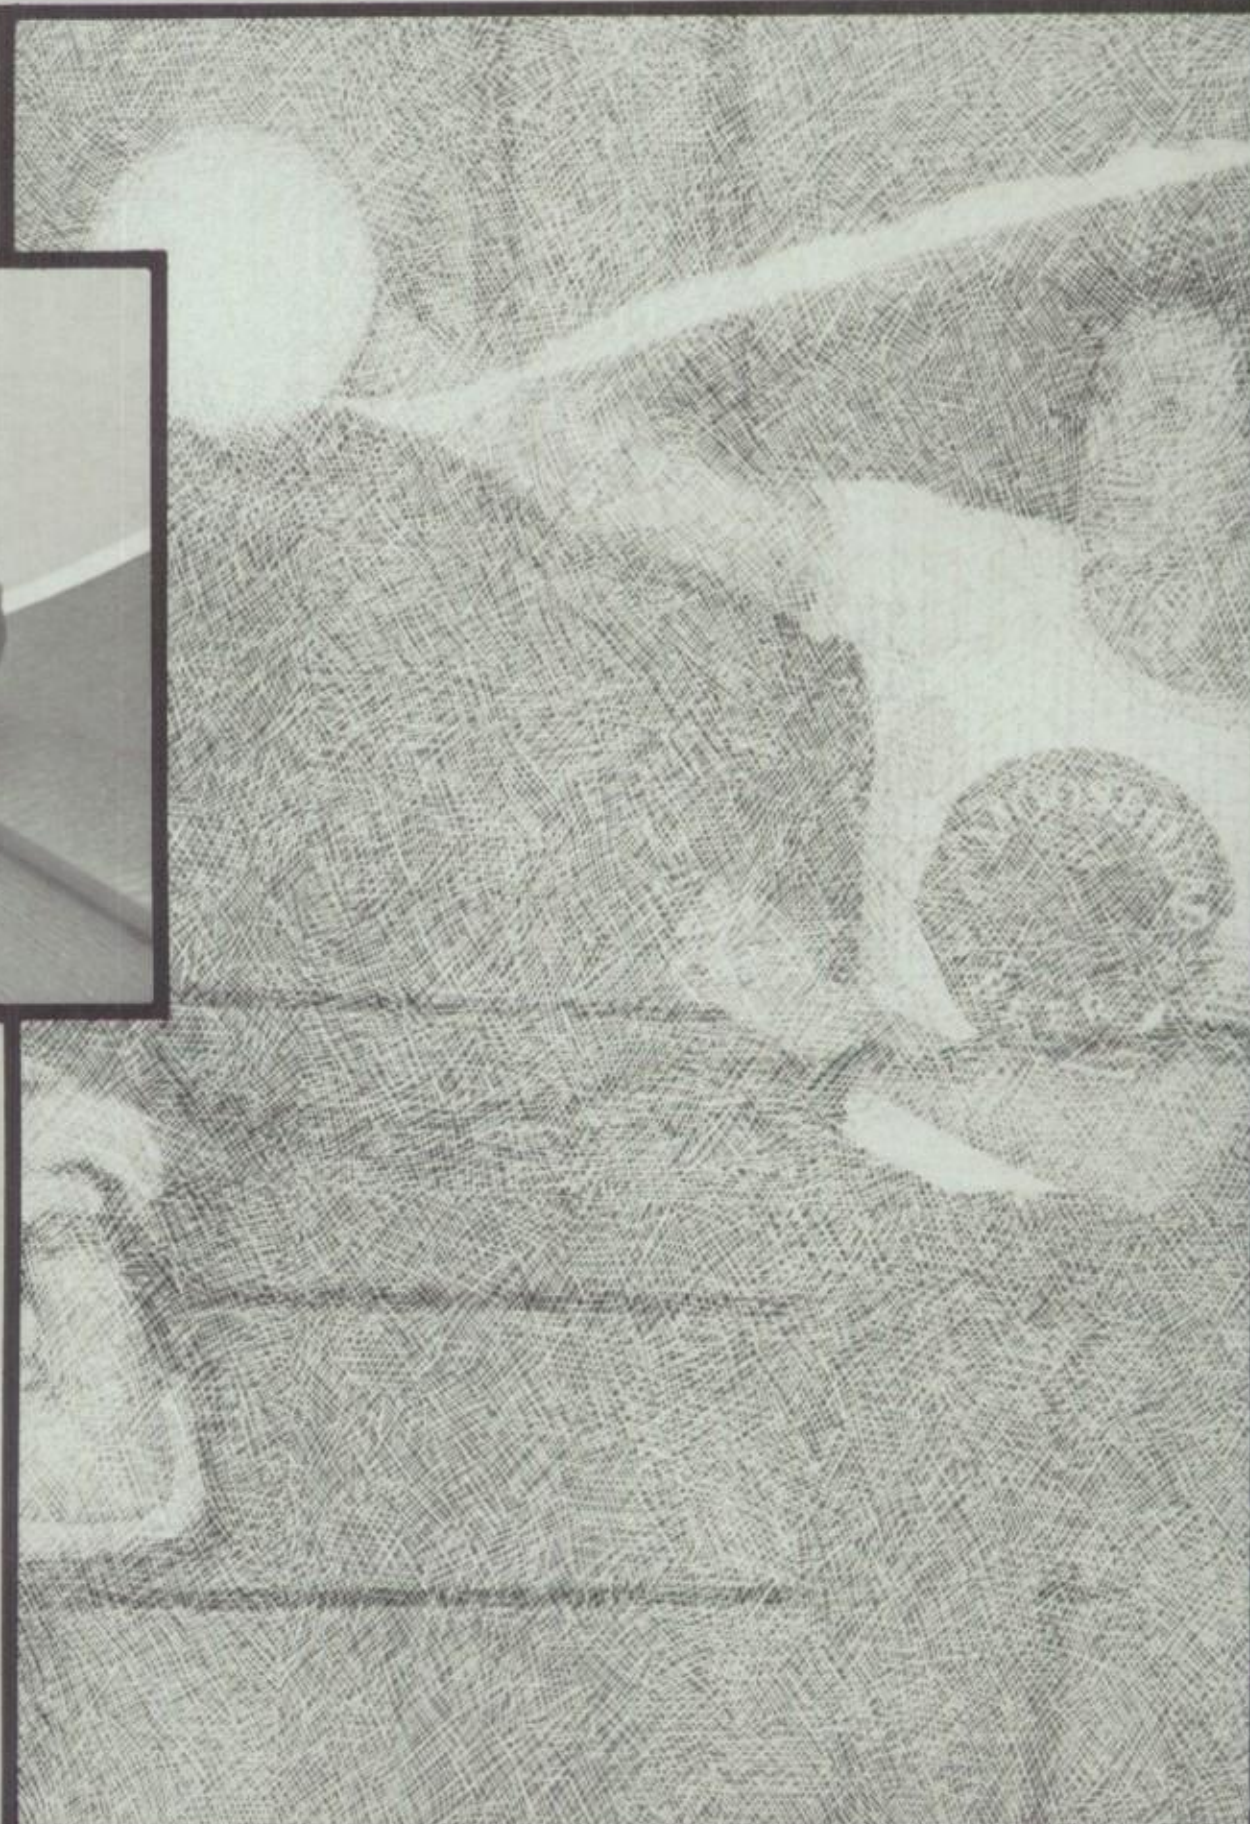

During the year, the types of classes offered in P.E. department included: Volleyball, Football, Basketball, Softball, Baseball, Tennis, Golf, Swimming, Cross Country, Track, Soccer, Wrestling, and Badminton. This wide variety of courses was taught by Norma Hill, Patricia McGill, Carol Hisey, Marge Hartman, Clarence Tye, Burl Autry, Robert Tedesco, and Bill

"Education is a do-it-yourself project."

Not many schools are privileged to have a farm where students can learn farming as a class. Here at Vintage we have a farm that offers students classes such as: Agricultural Fundamentals, Farm Mechanics, Ranch Management, and Horse Management. These classes are taught by Mr. Pearson and Leilani Schwartz.

On the farm, students were able to learn how to grow fruits and vegetables, mend fences, take care of sheep, pigs, cows, and horses, and how to show animals at a fair. Horse management students were taught the basics of caring for a horse and about the anatomy of horses. They were also taught about the kind of equipment necessary for the proper care of horses. Students have used the skills they learned on Vintage's farm to carry them into fascinating and fulfilling careers such as: veterinary medicine, farming, animal grooming, etc. . .

"Change is a process, not an event!"

Changing times have brought about the need for additions to the department of Home Economics. Now it isn't even called Home Ec. anymore, it has been broadened to the "Consumer and Living Skills department." The students of the 80's want to learn more about coping with relationships, child development, and how to live a happier homelife, and because of this, more classes have been added in this area. Mrs. Linda Drenon, along with Mrs. Elizabeth Munoz have been with the school ever since 1972, when the school opened. They added two new courses this year, which included Creative Living and Home Decorating. Some of the other classes offered this year were, Human Relations, Consumer Economics, Family Living, The Child, Clothing, Health Ed., and Co-Ed. Foods. Three of these subjects, Child Development, Family Living, and Money Management, taught the students how to cope in real life situations. In Consumer Economics the students were taught how to deal with the financial responsibilities in a marriage situation. The students in class were "married", and had to solve the financial problems a married couple might have to.

Living in today's society, we have earned the need for a more in-depth education that goes beyond the basics. "Home Ec." has finally reached a new height providing the skills and education required for today's standard of living.

"Nothing beats experience." - Phil Beere

The saying that nothing beats experience, certainly holds true in the business world. The Regional Occupation Program at Vintage High included many interesting classes this year. Among them were Graphics, (taught by Mr. Motty in the Art building), Cosmetology (taught at the Vintage Academy of Hair Design), and Restaurant Training (under the direction of Rena Chastain), and last, but certainly not least, the ROP Nursing program. There were many other ROP classes available to interested students at Napa High such as ROP auto shop.

The ROP Program, jointly funded by the State of California and Napa County, exists for the purpose of training young people in job skills and preparing them to enter the job market. Students in these classes worked before school, during lunch, and from sixth period on into the afternoon, all the while gaining valuable experience in their various fields of study. Their training through ROP will give them the extra edge they'll need to make it when they begin work at Cosme Vintage's faculty certainly wasted no time in making the 1982-83 school year a memorable one. Despite the new administration, (Principal Virginia Rue, Student Activities Director Stan Gittings, and numerous other new faculty members) students and teachers alike voiced satisfaction with the new program. As Mr. Pahre noted, "Things are running really smoothly, and the faculty is really working together!" It was great! Not only were the teachers working together on the intellectual level, but under Stan Gittings' direction, they formed an unbelievably formidable volleyball team called the "Faculty Slammers", and actually crushed the student body's undefeated campus champion team!

With a faculty like this, (with so much on the ball), students just couldn't lose. The teachers were witty and shrewd, capable but compassionate, but best of all, they were interested in each student's welfare. The Vintage Faculty couldn't be beat!

What kind of job is teaching, anyway? Most teachers would say that on the list of highly stressful jobs, teaching is second only to air traffic control. What keeps them from going completely ga-ga? The source of their insanity and the source of their sanity—students. Whether they admitted it or not, teachers need students and students need teachers. Being on the Vintage teaching staff meant more than merely another job; it was a combination of various aspects: work, play, spirit, togetherness, champions, . . . It took a great deal of loving and caring on the part of the instructors to successfully accomplish the learning process. To Vintage faculty and students, Vintage became a life within itself, filled with pressures and challenges, fun, and a sense of unity, but most of all, a warm feeling of satisfaction when things went right.

Frustration played a part in every teacher's life, but they didn't give up. They just kept plugging away. Why? Because the excitement and satisfaction that was felt when even one student caught on was often worth the pain. And in the future, as in the past, when VHS'ers come in contact with their former teachers and say, "I remember you; what you taught me really helped me out," that's what makes teachers feel that they've accomplished something worthwhile!

Teachers at Vintage were an experienced lot, many having been teaching for twenty years or more. During that time, students became more independent in their thinking, and most teachers felt that this resulted in good and bad effects. Mr. Hugh Silcox said that this independence resulted in an increase in constructive criticism from students, but also brought a little more troublemaking. Most teachers agreed on this point. Mr. Swan said that while students are better informed about the world than they used to be, there is also less respect for authority amongst them. "Students are socially more mature than they used to be," stressed Jack Konklin," and I like students more than I used to, but we need self-discipline. Challenging authority is good for the system, but don't overdo it." In regard to these views shared by much of the faculty, Vintage instituted the assertive discipline program this year: a positive approach to discipline in which students were expected to take more responsibility for their own behavior. Most of the faculty felt that there was an improvement in student behavior after the introduction of the program.

From the age of six to the age of seventeen, one-third of nearly every weekday is spent in school. Students spend nearly as much time in the company of teachers as they do with their parents in these growing years, which would lead people to believe that teachers have a considerable influence on kids in their formative years. Teachers' attitudes and treatments of kids can have an enormous effect on their self-image. Their desire to teach and teaching ability can determine a student's own outlook on learning and their own ability to learn.

Vintage students were lucky. The dedicated faculty of Vintage High School proved to students that they cared, in more ways than one. Committed teachers and administrators tried their best to be available and helpful at all times for students. They supported and encouraged students to apply themselves and to exceed their limitations. Many teachers and counselors became friends and supportive listeners. Every Vintage student has some teachers he will remember fondly when they look back years from now. From all the Vintage students to all of the Vintage faculty: THANKS!

Kim Kesler was one of Vintage's most outstanding students of 1983. She was not only academically inclined, but was a talented athlete as well.

In her freshman year, Kim earned the title of League Champion in the discus.

In her sophomore year, Kim played in the concert and marching bands. In sports, she was again League Champion in the discus.

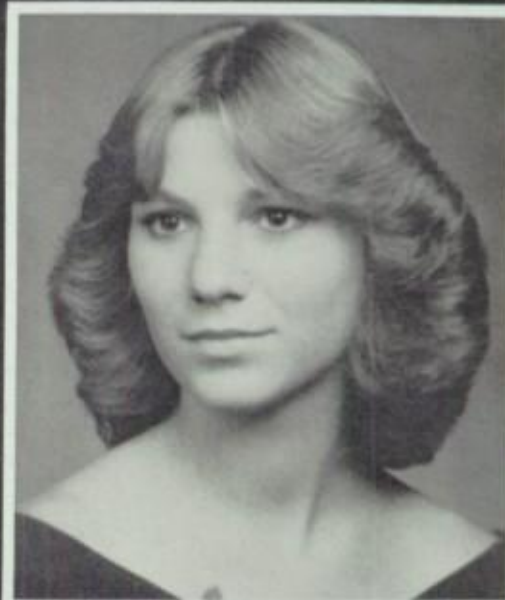

As a junior, Kim was involved in AFS and peer tutoring. She was also an alternate for Girl's State. In sports, she was honored as All-League in Volleyball and Basketball, League Champion in discus and shot put, and ranked 10th in the state in the discus.

In her final year at Vintage, Kim was involved in Interact, where she served as V. Pres., Keywanettes, CSF, AFS, and Student Liason. She was given the honor of being the Student Citizen of the Month in November. She was also a photographer for the Yearbook staff. As an athlete, Kim was titled All-League in Volleyball and Basketball, and was the Most Valuable Player in the league and at Vintage in Volleyball. It was anticipated that she would be ranked in the State's Top 5 in the track and field events.

Even with all these activities, Kim managed to keep a gpa of 3.75. Kim Kesler was a true example of the well-rounded achiever.

Jean Cavagnaro and Scott McCarron having a blast on the slopes.

Powdering, paralleling, and poling over the moguls and down the slopes, skiers went to participate in one of Northern California's most popular sport, skiing. This season provided the best skiing conditions for Tahoe's resorts in ten years.

Skiers had a vast variety of places to ski, both in North and South Lake Tahoe. Some of the most popular places were Heavenly Valley, Squaw Valley, Northstar, and even Sierra Ski Ranch. These resorts have runs suited to the clumsy beginner, the developing intermediate, and the all-time advanced skier.

Though the season started out early, most students couldn't find the time to make it to the slopes until Christmas vacation, but when the first day of the holiday season arrived, these skiers were more than ready to travel up to Tahoe. Some students were skiing for the first time this year, whereas others had skied for many years before. No matter what, all had a great time and will remember their experiences throughout the years.

Good Christmas spirit was shared by all who attended the annual Vintage Christmas festival held at Vintage 1870 in Yountville. All the shops contributed 10% of their profits from that night to the A.S.B. account. The event was sponsored by the Parent Faculty Student Organization. They served delicious refreshments that included cookies, apple cider, and hot mulled wine. Entertainment was provided by Vocal Music Workshop, the Dixieland Band, and Drama's Mime Troup. The Keywanette Club supplied face painting for the kids. And of course, Santa and his elves were there to visit with all the good little boys and girls.

Mike Spinelli was a very active achiever during his three high school years. He played as a tackle and defensive end for Junior Varsity and Varsity football. He was also on track and the city basketball league for three years.

In football, he was awarded All-Region, All-League, and All-County. He recieved the title of Defensive Player of the Week twice. Mike was honored with an award for Scholar Athlete for Napa County at an awards banquet in San Francisco. Even with his busy schedule over the years, Mike was able to maintain his 3.4 grade point average.

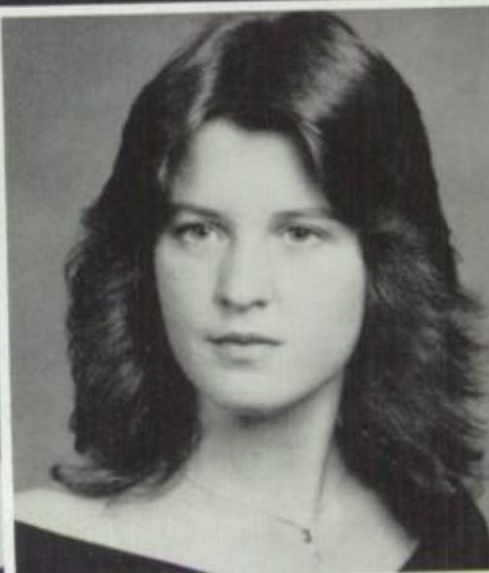

Mike Spinelli pulled it all together and proved to one and all that he could do whatever he set his mind to.

This year we were fortunate to have three very special people attending Vintage High. These three young men stood out above all others because of their courage. They showed more courage each day than we may ever have to show in a lifetime. Despite their disabilities, these three young men, Jeff Winchell, Jeff Hopson, and Harry Kramer, tried to be as independent as they possibly could and made the most of themselves and their lives.

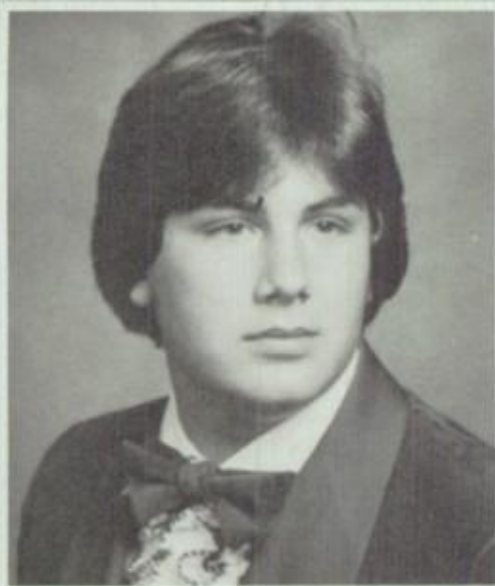

Jeff Winchell was an active member of the Discover Interdependence group at Vintage. He attended their camp this past summer, learning many new and exciting things. Through this club he learned to ask for help, to help others, and above all, to express himself. While attending every one of the clubs presentations, Jeff talked about his experiences to a group of approximately two-hundred people or more. This was Jeff's last year at Vintage. During his senior year, he kept a busy schedule with a five period day. His favorite class was computer science, which he would like to major in someday.

Jeff Hopson was a junior at Vintage this year. He also had a five period day consisting of English, math, literature, history, and learning skills. Jeff attended these classes with his interpreter, Virginia Cook. He was always one of the Vintage Crusher's biggest fans. He went to every home football game to root our team on. But besides spirit, Jeff also had great courage. His courage enabled him to achieve the independence he was and is striving for, and become the great person he is.

Harry Kramer was a sophomore at Vintage. His five period included his favorite subjects, ceramics and gym. In gym, he especially enjoyed playing long darts. Being the big believer he is in positive thinking, Harry participated in the March of Dimes annually, pushing his own wheelchair the whole way. Outside of school he enjoyed puzzles, and like many others, video games. One of his favorite sports was bowling and he won two trophies in it this past year.

The achievements of these three young men and their outlook towards life, has and will continue to inspire the lives of many in the years ahead.

Fine Arts were ably represented at Vintage by Tammy Broxton. She was in Concert Choir for three years and was a member of Vocal Music Workshop as a junior. Tammy performed in two Vintage theatrical productions: "You Can't Take It With You," and "Our Town." She also had a major role in the musical, "Bye, Bye Birdie."

But, Tammy didn't limit herself to the Fine Arts; she was also active in many Vintage and community activities. She was involved in Keywanettes, Interact, and CSF for three years, and was a delegate in MUN as a junior. She held the honor of Girl's State representative for Vintage as a junior, also.

Tammy was on pom-pon all three years at Vintage, and in her senior year, she was head pom-pon. Tammy somehow managed to find the time to study and keep up her 4.0 gpa, and in her senior year, she was a National NCTE Writing Awards winner.

Vintage has a particularly special reason to be proud of Tammy, as she represented our school and Napa County when she became the 1983 California Junior Miss.

Tammy Broxton was a definite asset to her school and her community, displaying a record of achievements that just wouldn't quit.

"Good Morning! This is your Daily Bulletin" ... Every morning Vintage students started off their day hearing these words. Four students shared the honor of reading the daily announcements. They were Tony Speck (Chuck Anthony), David Brown (Martin Man), Casie Sotelo, and Lisa Wilson. The bulletin became an important part of each students day, as it included information about many things. A typical daily bulletin consisted of academic, social, sports, and clubs' meetings. In addition to being informative, the Daily Bulletin always provided a touch of humor.

Erik Wenneker

GARY RUGGIERO

It's been great. It's been fun. All I can say is I'm glad I'm all done.

KIM FORMO

It's been fun! Twelve years have gone by. What's life got in store for me now? Hawaii.

JEAN CAVAGNARO

I used to wonder what being a senior was like, and now I've found out how special everything really was.

SCOTT MCCARRON

My senior year has gone by much faster than I expected, and soon it will be only a memory.

COLLEEN KANE

My senior year has been so busy. All my spare time has been spent planning for next year. Being a senior is lots of fun! It's fantastic!

KIM GOLDBERG

Vintage High was the place to be in '83, because of the good times with my favorite three-Ernie, Lisa, and Caroline!

TIM HUCKABY

I have greatly enjoyed my three years at Vintage. At times, it has depressed me, but the same old things, day in and day out, can depress anyone. There will always be many memories around the school ... things I will never forget.

TINA WATSON

My senior year has been my best year here, and the experiences I've enjoyed have meant a lot to me.

MISSY KENT

Vintage is an awesome school with lots of fun memories-thank to all the people who've shared smiles and great times with me-love ya!

NANCY ALLEN

It was really fun, but I'm glad I'm out. Thanks to all my friends and the teachers that helped me.

PAULA VIDAURETTA

It was a very great and rewarding experience.

SUZI MACCOLL

To Michelle, Teri, Nancy, Karrie, and Carol: The time is here. We go our own ways now. And me, who you know by now, just want to say, "To my great friends" who I hope to keep in contact with, now and in the future. Let's not forget! Friends forever.

BRIAN SMITH

I've had two massively spud years here at Vintage, but cannot wait to shred over the summer.

SALVADOR CALDERON

Vintage has been a good school for the past three years. I have had lots of fun and good memories. I hope it stays that way always. Thanks to all the people that made it a great experience.

MATT BEHR

Well, twelve long years have come and gone. Now what do I do?

MICHELLE PHILLIPS

I will miss my underclassperson friends. But, I'm glad to be away from here and in college.

CHRISSE WERRIS

The only thing I regret about graduating is that I won't be able to attend Vintage.

Deborah Ware

In her years at Vintage High, and especially as a senior, Lynn Bundy could usually be distinguished from the crowd by picking out the girl always carrying around a huge pile of books and papers. In truth, two-thirds of those things were yearbook materials. Lynn served on the yearbook staff in her sophomore year and returned in her senior year as editor. Although this responsibility took most of her time, Lynn was still able to accomplish a number of other achievements.

In her freshman year at San Carlos High, she had the role of lead dancer in the musical, "Bells Are Ringing," and she continues to take ballet and jazz lessons. Lynn also plays the piano outside of school as well as a little electric guitar!

Lynn was in CSF all three years at Vintage, and Keywanettes in the 11th and 12th grades, where she served (in 12th grade) as a service director.

In 11th grade, Lynn was chosen as the only student from Vintage to attend the UCLA High School Scholars Summer Program. As a senior, she received the honor of National NCTE Writing Awards winner. Lynn was most proud of the fact that she was the only National Merit Scholarship Semifinalist at Vintage in two years, and she hoped to become a Finalist. Although Lynn took mostly difficult classes, she kept her gpa at 3.95.

Lynn Bundy put herself to the test in all areas and passed with flying colors!

FLYING HIGH

on the wings of love

The Graduating Class of 1983 proudly presented the eleventh annual Turnabout Dance which was held in the Trophy Room at Silverado Country Club on the evening of Saturday, the fifth of February, 1983, from 9:30-12:30. There were 183 couples present at the dance. Most of the couples went out to dinner before the dance, some out of town, while others just stayed in town in their favorite restaurants such as Oliver's, Rainbow Bridge, and Petri's. Everyone enjoyed the various types of music from punk, rock, and soul that were played throughout the evening. The theme that the seniors picked this year was "Just You and I, on the Wings of Love". After the dance there were many get-togethers before everyone went home from the exciting evening.

CIRCLE: Sharon Garcia and John Albrecht resting between dances.
FAR RIGHT: Paula Vidaurreta and Mike Spinelli, dancing the night away.

LEFT: Everyone enjoying themselves as the music rolls on.
BELOW: Gina Rhine, Roman Seguerre, Dominador Manayan, Elaine Manansala, Rob Lawson, Bryan Poli, Dennis Ortanes, and Susie Marlow, laughing in the rain.

Lisa -

This year was pretty fun. I'm really glad I got to meet you. You a bella! pretty girl. Stay cool. And have fun over the summer. I hope to see ya next year.

Your friend

Katrina Klam

-Lisa-
How's it going dweless. Well you only go 1 year left. I might But im out finally. I might let you and Karen cruise my ride this summer. I hope you have a great summer and good luck in the future. It give you a call sometime when I have a couple of parties take care

Jessa
(Bombi),
I didn't see this much of you this year. Everything I did I enjoyed cracking up at your craziness. I hope you have a good year next year, and hope your prosperous in your life too come,
Friends Always,
Mike Afora

Dear Lisa: I am so glad I met you last year - you are the sweetest!! I am sorry we didn't get to do more things but at least we keep in touch!!
Hopefully we'll have some classes next year - Call me up during summer and we'll go party!! (224-7214) If Phil's ever comin over to house (he does every great while) you should come w/ him - we could all go tubbin. See ya around Chopsully!!)

CONGRATULATIONS!

WE WISH YOU GOOD LUCK AND SUCCESS.
 WE ARE VERY PROUD OF YOU AND ALWAYS WILL BE! KEEP UP THE GREAT WORK.
 WITH LOVE,
 MOM AND DAD

Playing tag, jumping rope
 Writing on the walls,
 Playing house, hide and seek,
 Running through the halls

Losing toys, losing teeth,
 Sucking on your thumb,
 Scraping knees, bumping heads,
 Swallowing your gum

Applying make-up, playing records,
 Swooning over boys,
 "Hey Mom, I'm growing up"
 "Throw away the toys!"

Baking cakes, buying clothes,
 Getting your first kiss,
 Slumber parties, roller skating,
 This you couldn't miss!

Football games, pizza pubs,
 Sneaking in at two,
 Friday nights you're never home,
 There's just so much to do!

Finding a certain someone,
 You think so very much of,

"You wonder if you're dreaming, or is it really love?"

And then one day, you realize,
 That you're almost grown,
 The time has come for you to leave,
 From what you've always known

And so Colleen, the best of luck
 Through all your troubles and strifes,
 We wish for you, in the years to come,
 A very beautiful life . . .

With our pride and love,
 Your family

Colleen Pedrazzini - Age 2

As we go our separate ways, we don't know what to say . . . in some ways our time together seems so short; in other ways there was time enough to get to know each other and time to enjoy a relationship. But there was also time . . . time enough to grow. But just as the seasons of life grow and transcend into something equally as wonderful, so, too, do we want the love we had to become the friendship we'll never lose.

FAREWELL—TO A FRIEND

*On the day of November 22, 1982
we lost a good friend
Linda Figueroa.
Her tragic death brought many pain and sorrow.
We all, at some time, must wonder why people die.
It's such a tragic loss
when life ends,
especially to someone we know
and love.
In only Seventeen years,
she had generously touched the hearts and lives of many.
It's difficult to realize that she's gone, and we'll never see her again.
She will always be remembered in our hearts, and nothing in this world will ever change that.*

TO RANDI WALLEN...

CONGRATULATIONS! WE ARE VERY PROUD OF YOU!
WE HOPE YOUR FUTURE WILL BE HAPPY AND REWARDING.

EVENTS &

PEOPLE

Well, being yearbook editor was . . . different. It was also fun, tedious, exciting, irritating, rewarding, nervewracking, unique, and a thousand other things.

The yearbook staff and I set out to make the best yearbook in this school's history. Whether the yearbook is the best or not is really in the eye of the beholder. We just want you to enjoy it and completely ignore any mistakes you might come across. I think that is the hardest thing for a yearbooker to deal with: the fact that no matter how long and hard you work, and how much sacrifice and thought you put into the yearbook, people are going to find things they don't like and they're going to criticize your work. Which is as it should be. The thought just drives me crazy, though.

This yearbook was not the work of one person or even one staff. The end result was a product of the efforts of many special people, a few of whom I'd like to personally thank:

Mr. George Tawzer for being much more than a yearbook advisor and for doing more than his share of the work. The 1983 Yearbook Staff for being so hardworking and for sacrificing so many weekends. I really appreciate all their efforts. My parents for always being there; for crying more than I cried, being prouder than I was, getting angrier than I did, and being happier than I was. Mrs. Bates, Mr. Stoskopf, and Mr. Tawzer again, for being special friends.

It's over (I can't believe it), and I'll never forget this year. The best thing I'll carry away from my "yearbook experience" is the really neat people I met. Many people on the staff grow to be very close with each other and made lasting friendships and memories they'll carry with them for a long time. I certainly did.

Our high school years are ones we'll always remember, and I hope, in the years to come, you'll look at this book as a source of pleasureable memories: a photo album and newspaper of days gone by. Be happy.

Love,
Lynn Bundy

Lisa,
Well chick, school is over with. Arent you glad? I think, next year we'll be big Seniors, wow!
won't that be fun.
Well you added
some laughs to ~~1st~~ and ~~2nd~~ period.
Man you know who is sure a retard. I sure hope she isn't in any of my

Lisa~
Well Lisa, you sure have been through the "ringer" this year with all your problems with Mike.
I honestly hope that everything works out with you and that you get everything you want out of life. Have a fulfilled summer. Love

Lisa,
I'm glad I met you
this year in math. Maybe we'll have a class together next year. I hope I didn't bug<sup>you</sup> too much in class. Have a great summer.

Love,

Lisa,
Well I can't believe the year is almost over! Next year you'll be a big SENIOR! Have fun because you'll regret it if you don't. You're a really nice girl and I'm glad I met you this year. Good Luck in school next year.

P.S. Best of luck
